PREFACE

NOTICE:- I repeat, not intended for Picnic Readers.
Only for those who are searching for Truth, that might be Possible, WITHOUT INVOLVING GOD.

Hmmm! No! It wasn't a wonderful experience while starting or completing the book. But Time provided the safest path of Kundalini Ascension to me. There were a number of reasons when I was really confused.

Firstly, I don't know when all of this started out, as (I think) I was way beyond middle when I incidentally identified the symptoms from the internet.

And that was the moment, when I finally got the answers to a number of lingering questions of uncertainty, which flooded my mind for last few years, and finally realized that everything in my recent life was happening due to some special purpose.

Secondly, it really stretched far longer than I could bear. I had to stay without job for more than two years. And add to that, the physical sickness which I had for past many years.

And lastly, there were no psychic symptoms to disturb my peace of life (Phew!! Little confusing but satisfying at last). But there was one thing that had a regular pace, the expansion of consciousness.

Consciousness, for an individual, literally means what you consider as possible. And it can be different for every living being. And the information, I've downloaded in last 2+ years of jobless but exhaustive learning period is collected in this book series.

It was as if some message was telepathically conveyed to me from some unknown source, guiding me through unknown but totally new & unconnected areas. And NO! I didn't have any conversation or meeting with anyone, visible or invisible. It was all in bits-&-bytes, everything scrambled here and there.

But when I realized that they were all dealing with same subject, I was really surprised and encouraged to explore more. I kept researching and refining, without caring for my pre-ascension life. But today when I see the path, I've completed, it's a complete change. It has taken a whooping 16+ years to reach here, not to forget last 2+ years of extreme emotional & mental stress due to physical illness & unemployment.

And I had to re-arrange all that data, in a meaningful order, to make it more understandable. It doesn't matter where I'm destined to proceed, but this knowledge has the ability to answer a number of questions that the whole world had been seeking from the time immemorial.

The complete data is divided into two books in a series to give the reader sufficient time to read, do further research & then absorb the message that I intend to convey. The second book might take some time to arrive. If you like the book, you may recommend it to others.

I must inform the reader that I'm not a regular or professional writer but I tried my best to convey that message clearly. I've mentioned this beforehand because sometimes you may find the matter really blunt, without any exotic literal decorations.

And sometimes you may find a topic described under completely different category and that may cause minor confusion as to what that topic is doing there, but that may be due to the demand of that specific topic to be adjusted at two or perhaps three different places but I preferred to keep it there.

This seems completely normal when, being a novice writer, you are dealing with a completely new (actually Ancient) subject, without help from any outside source, which has no description even in any scholars book, new or old.

And also when you are handling Tons of data, spanning whole of human history & involving multiple disciplines, then some mistakes are inevitable and need to be excused. I may have made some mistakes at few places in a hurry, because the time left for rectifying those mistakes, that we've been making repeatedly, is very less.

Not to forget my personal problems and add to that, the task of verifying the validity of derived results with the situation of the world in almost all eras. And it becomes far more difficult for an amateur writer (like me) to adjust all that data in laymen's language.

The derived laws are easily applicable from microscopic to macroscopic level (at least in our living world). Though I used same laws to explain the cause of terrible storms on Jupiter and the spinning of the Sun, but I would better confine the validity of the derived laws to the living world only.

After reading the book, you will simply admire the timing this eternal knowledge has reached you. And as I say, if you are curious then there is still some hope because the Curiosity is first characteristic of an Awakening soul. Stay awake like that, keep researching, who knows, someone of us will actually find a way to save humanity from The Final World War, already predicted multiple times. Or save its family, at least.

I'm calling it The Final World War as we all know that we all are Shitting under the same Nuclear button, possibly covered by a mad person (No further elaboration required).

Some of you may consider the book a very wise mix of Science & Religious Philosophy. Yes it is! As the general population in any corner of our world is more philosophical than scientific, so I had to do that. We are more attached to our Faith, than Logic.

Science & Religion had been, most of the time, considered opposite ends of Knowledge-Dipole, but what will surprise you here, is that they always coexisted together as single entity, before being compartmentalized as two different extremities, in last few hundred years.

But in this book, we will explore the Scientific origins of our Religious faith, hidden from the whole world from time immemorial. Religion, from all corners of the world, was a mask used by our ancestors for the application of their scientific research for the betterment of the general population.

As we all know that the theoretical matter, taught all over the world, does not connect anywhere to our practical living world. At home, we are taught to remain Religious & Faithful, but once out, we are asked to stay Scientific & Logical. Hence, it creates confusion by dragging our Mind & Heart in opposite directions.

Regarding the name of the book, I would say, the title of the book may really seem somewhat inappropriate to everyone. But when you'll finish the series, you will find the same title as the most suitable one. And yes! I don't hold any fancy degrees or doctorates to qualify for the research on such a weird & ancient but highly sophisticated topic, which is like an alien material to almost whole of humanity and even to all those qualified doctorates.

I'm a College Drop-out from India with some basic knowledge of Science. Before Ascension, I was just a simple introvert guy with extreme curiosity in multiple fields. But then, it started pouring on my head thus altering everything. Now the scene has totally changed and I may have to revise everything from my previous job, if I need to resume.

But for you, dear reader, it's now or never. After year 2025, Humanity is awaiting an important event which is yet to manifest. Kaliyuga is on the verge of completion and then, it is said for next one hundred years or more, it will be a semi-dark time. Meaning, it will be neither night (like present time), nor dawn. Our Earth will enter a slow transition phase (spanning 300 years in total) with highly unpredictable circumstances.

As per researchers, every downward transition is always accompanied by a loss of exotic knowledge, but this time, as we're moving upwards, towards the Golden age, I feel fortunate enough to bring this Eternal knowledge back to whole mankind, which was kept encrypted by Vedic Sages, in a special image without any description at all.

Now this transition may or may not begin with an exact date or some tragic event. Too many prophecies are already facing the daylight predicting the End of World. For the Daring, weapons won't do any help. And for the Holy, you are really in for a heart breaking surprise. The Almighty is not a human being, or an Alien, or Satan, or an Evil being and none of these, as proclaimed by these Religious leaders. It never belonged to any religion because Religion was intentionally invented for something else. And hence, it was easily manipulated by later corrupt generations.

So no God, no Allah & no Kalki (Hinduism), nothing! No one's coming! It was all pure manipulated crap, fabricated to keep you hibernating until complete extinction. All those stories had metaphorical meaning intended for something else.

It does not matter if you still want to wait. Maybe you are due for a date with some tragic event and won't wake up until you are eligible for it. If there is an Almighty, may he/she hears your prayers (I still hope!).

But if you can, just give a shallow observation to the fact of Return of Jesus or Mohammad or Kalki, you can easily derive my result as mentioned above. The way, we are wasting our Time & Resources on petty adventures of exploiting & throwing everything randomly, it's simply ridiculous to hope for some Avatar to put everything back at suitable place.

Let me explain it a little further, so why did Jesus, Mohammad or Vishnu came? And what did they change? So you may say that they preached about a super power that creates & rules our lives. So by this, you are directly insisting that your forefathers (& not their Ruler) in that time & region were more irreligious & savage before that Avatar came. And some Prophet was needed to balance everything. Was it so?

Another question-Was it something new or different from what was told by previous religions during that time? I think, no. It wasn't anything different. People, of all times & in any corner of the Earth, have been bound by religious rules, more or less. And you can search about Tribal aborigines who used to capture even human beings just for eating. And they too worshiped some Gods in some form. Their captives were directly sacrificed in front of that God and then eaten as food.

So why these tribes were never civilized and what was the need to civilise the Partly-civilized people (i.e. Us)? But we never heard of any form of divine incarnation in those tribes. So were they not religious or were they less religious than Jesus or Mohammad? Or may be Jesus & Mohammad feared for their lives and that is why they felt safe at their prefixed destined places. By the way, both of them claimed to know God or Allah, and thus it is simply ridiculous to say that they didn't know about those tribes.

Moreover, if God or Allah or Vishnu really cared for Humanity then why they didn't stop the events leading to the First World War & First Atomic Explosions? You may further explore about the horrors of War using some key terms to search over the internet as discussed in "Initial Homework" chapter in this book. Some links have also been provided to take you directly to the page where I read all that stuff.

A few years back, American Government had officially disclosed that they had conducted 200 different kinds Nuclear tests before concluding at Hiroshima & Nagasaki. So which Avatar is required to put this type of Progress back to its place? Any suggestions?

Meanwhile, our World, as you will read in this series, is running on an Auto-Pilot Mode. (Yes, I've proof). And don't wait for the Government to arrange for your life-jackets & food-medicine packets for next three hundred years. Many disasters, calamities and unexpected events have already started to manifest.

And they may further increase, beyond your bearing capacity. But the degree, to which they may affect you, will vary as per some logical parameters (discussed in this book), that were discovered, analyzed & practically applied by our ancestors thousands of years ago. That may be the only plus point still on our side.

Every event, good or bad, is happening as per those parameters (and not due to some Fake God's will). Yes, you will not be judged by the number of devotional hours you kept your head dipped in your religious books or the number of incense sticks you burn every day. But on the basis of Karma (Past & Present deeds) from all your incarnations and will be judged as per the parameters explained in this book series.

If this wasn't true, all problems should have been confined to Atheists only. But we all know that most Atheist people are living far happier than the Religious people. You won't believe that the manner in which our Ethereal Universe (or at least our living world) works is really very simple. Just three simple laws, that explains most of the events that actually happened. Meanwhile, I'm still searching for more to complete the picture!

The sequence of chapters have been so arranged to give you an impression of gradual tightening of grip where the reader gets the real face of our world & history till date. I may be wrong at some places where religious & scientific terminology and explanation is concerned and would apologize for that. But the questions that I've raised at those specific points are logically valid.

The book touches multiple subjects to connect the dots and then arrives at its real intention - The Eternal Awakening. These includes Nature, Living Beings (Dead & Alive), Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Yoga, Ayurveda, Astrology, Yoga, Yogic philosophy, Yuga (Time) cycle, Religion, Karma, Spirituality, Vedic Philosophy, Mythology, Reincarnation, Past life, Metaphysics, Kundalini Ascension, Prophets & their Prophecies, Astronomy, Aliens, Parallel Universes, Inter Dimensional Travel, Global Education System, Medicine & Pharmacy, Historical & Real time Event Analysis, Government Conspiracies, etc and many others.

Some of you might be afraid by the names of various subjects mentioned above, but no need to fear as I already said it just touches that subject without going into detail. And by the way, I also fear Mathematics, just like you.

In the beginning, there is a chapter, named "Initial Homework" where you will find just topics mentioned, with little or no explanation. You are requested to simply copy-paste that topic into your favourite search engine & research on the topic. And then, depending on the available time, go through at least five-ten listed web pages to face the reality.

Readers, who are already familiar with those topics, may simply skip to next one or even the whole chapter. If you don't agree with anything then it's totally normal because I too stuck myself, many times, before accepting the truth.

Numerous books have already been written on these topics but the Public, in other parts of the world, doesn't have enough time to see each and every topic. But visiting a few web pages can save you a lot of your hard-earned money.

Those topics were worth mentioning and were intended for people who are still ignorant. I don't want to waste my time, explaining each topic again and thereby convert this series into an encyclopaedia. And that would have directly changed the intention of the book.

One question may arise here as to why these Laws were not disclosed to any early prophets & civilizations? Probably to Jesus, Mohammad, Buddha, Guru Nanak or even Sai Baba of Shirdi (India). And what I can say is that almost all the Mystics that we know about have incarnated in Kaliyuga only. Life of people in those times was mostly confined to survival only.

And Sacred Knowledge was strictly confined to few ruling families and secret societies. So it seems really impossible to explain them such topics related to subjects discussed above. But once you will read the book, you will clearly see that these laws were smartly hidden in the teachings of those Mystics for known purposes.

Moreover, that specific image itself must have its origin in some previous Yuga. And chances indicate that the Unknown Mystic, who created that image, already knew about the possibility of this knowledge to be lost in the future. And hence the result was encryption.

Related to this, what seemed strange and surprising to me was that this Mysterious subject doesn't have even a smallest description in any other Hindu or other religious books even in the Far East, whose philosophy and knowledge was widely influenced by Hinduism & Buddhism, leave alone the other religions of our world. I feel fortunate enough that Nature selected me to bring this Eternal Knowledge to you, at right time.

Please keep this point in your mind that all the information revealed in this book, are my personal views. It wasn't my intention to harm anyone's religious belief, in any way, without any solid proof.

Even members of my own family still stick to the age-old method of worship, and they are free to choose their way. And the same applies to you too. The encrypted message may be totally different from what it was intended for. Or it may be a case of multiple encryption i.e. several messages hidden in same space.

Or most possibly, as I presume, maybe it is just a small part of some bigger picture and there is still something more to unfold in the future. I've tried to judge everything from laymen's view & cross-checked everything many times. As one connection might be a pure coincidence, but when there are multiple verified correlations, the truth indicates somewhere else. And as it is said "Truth is always stranger than Fiction".

But here what we see is.... Oh! I don't have words to describe it! And I took it as a responsibility before it's too late; to inform you as to what is dragging us towards complete eventual extinction. We already know that too many ancient relics have been found, dating back to billions of years and most of them were intentionally suppressed.

Now the question arises, who left them & where are these people now? Why none of them survived? When it has been already predicted in Hindu & some other religious scriptures that Human civilization will never cease to exist and had emerged as it is today then why we're facing so many problems? As mentioned in Forbidden Archaeology, that human civilization once coexisted with Dinosaurs.

But still, we're confused about survival of human civilization as the time had never been so cruel. Then let's explore, what is forcing Time to exhibit such a savage behaviour and what you can do to increase your chances of survival? Or as I say, verify your faith before blind chasing (even me!).

Because the Creator of your Miseries may not be the one, you've always been told about. If you're still awaiting a divine intrusion in your life, delete this sample & close the web page right away!

But if you think that the Almighty may have some simple logical explanation, something more than what had been described previously, then you are welcome to the gang of Awakening Explorers, who don't encourage blind faith, in science or religion either. By the way, I'm the solo member of this group at present. (-P)

I know this book might open some ugly cannons towards me, blaming my background, education and religion (blah! blah! blah!) but I think I've provided all the solid proofs that should make the toughest skeptics to meditate on the mentioned topics, without involving me personally.

I don't want anyone to chase me & disturb my peace of life (even in the name of criticism or publicity interviews) and that is why I've adopted a pen name of Infinite Zero.

It would be better for you all, to concentrate on what has been Spoken here, instead of searching for the Speaker or scratching the Mic. Moreover, I've nothing to lose at all. No Degrees, no Job, no Bank balance & no Life-partner indeed.

I'm happy, wherever I am & my Interview or Photograph won't confirm your ticket to next Yuga. I'd like everyone to think thrice about the coming transition period, before disturbing my further research with their literary garbage.

An email address has been left open for your complaints, further advice & guidance. May be, in the moments of hurry, I may have left something incomplete which is causing confusion in your head and needs more clearer explanation.

If you really like the book then just recommend it to others and, instead of wasting your time partying & taking selfies, search for the escape routes. Yes, I presume, there must be something like that too because Vedic & other Religious philosophy must have such encrypted descriptions.

Our World is no more a safe place & Time left is much less. You can also drop me an email to remind me if I've missed out something important which should have been there for the world to know.

As this is still a Theory-In-The-Making and will be subject to future updates, corrections & modifications, so it seeks careful scrutiny at multiple levels and I'm still searching other areas to complete the picture. I think that there may be few more laws that still lay hidden! And this book just opens another door to that unknown cave of knowledge for everyone to search.

But I was forced to reveal them early because of the prophecies of the End of the World actually manifesting. And more than that I have not given even a name to it? You may refer it as The Eternal Theory. (-T)

And if you didn't like this book then I wish your Almighty may hear your prayers as you are already programmed to stay, live & die helpless. May He send somebody to help you!! And even after reading the book, if someone prefers to stick to his/her old belief (which is highly unlikely); I fear it would be too late when he/she will wake up.

So you still need a point to scratch your head! Ask Charles Darwin what kind of Targeted Mutation caused Single cells to resort to Sexual Reproduction from Asexual Reproduction and why that specific genetic defect was never rectified? And by the way, it has been globally discussed that Mutation never causes Evolution.

And even if they couldn't, how did they decide who is going to be Male or Female! And why it wasn't a Male-Male or Female-Female combo? Stretching this a little further! Why we don't see Gays & Lesbian cases in other living animals?

Oh! Mind Bending? Hmmm... I know!

Some of you might actually run outside to find some species from Animal kingdom to prove me wrong! But I would say observe the ratio of population of that species to the population of Gays & Lesbians in Human civilization and you would see your jaw touching the floor. No, I don't hate these people. They have a right to live free. But the study does matter!

Still need another one? Do you know anything about Nephilims of Bible! He! He! He! What Bible says was a pure misleading description that was recorded as per the mentality of Tribal/Religious priests (or History-keepers) of that time. Bible mentioned about two different beings in that single story. (1)Sons of God (aka the Winged Beings) & (2)Nephilims.

By the way, we have recovered numerous Giant fossils (Nephilims) buried underground all over the world, but we have not recovered even a single fossil which belonged to those Sons of God (the Winged Beings). It's simply like using Chicken egg to prove that Ostrich once existed in the past.

And see the wave all over the internet, how these Educated dudes used this to promote the validity of Bible & Return of Jesus?

Usual explanation-Oh yes! Some people came from the sky and started fing beautiful daughters of human beings & all human beings kept standing & watching their daughters and sisters being red and no one resisted by pelting even a single stone.

Were they carrying huge posters displaying them as Sons of God or there was a loud declaration from the God that my sons are coming to enjoy. Take care of them. And we were told that God is all too powerful and knows everything from past, present or future!

Then why He didn't interfere before these Culprits could even think of committing such crime? What was the punishment given to those offenders? Why He didn't just erase that event from the history of mankind altogether? (Or might be that God doesn't have the power to travel back in Time! Is that so? Impossible!)

Unusual explanation-No my child! God was busy in completing the Bible (for my Christians brothers!) and that is why he even forgot to create some blonde Fairies who could satiate the sexual cravings of his own Sons!

Yeah! That does seem possible! (-\)

Would you believe me if I say that it was all a case of Dimensional Crossover? Did any Skeptic or Scholar, from Frontier Science or Age-old Religion, ever had a logical explanation for that particular event in any book. Or even for the mysterious Inter-dimensional travel case of Taured. No?

But, I have! Those simple laws have the power to investigate these mysterious events also. And that too, without using any kind of mathematical theorems or other scientific derivations that require prior loads of exotic knowledge from Frontier Science, aided by chest badges of different Doctorates from top universities.

Did I hear some curiosity grumbling inside you?

You're invited. See you there!

Initial Homework

Everything in your World is just because of you!

Do you really feel any meaning that above line tries to explain? No! But When you finish reading this book, this single line will resonate loudly in your Heart.

Welcome to the party! Sorry! Classroom! (My Mistake!)

So, in this chapter, we'll be taking small warm-up steps. You can either go through this normally, or you can also copy-paste it to your computer notepad or similar programs, for later use when you are online. If you've already read about these topics somewhere else, then you can directly skip to the next one.

I'll suppose that you don't know anything about any topic mentioned in this chapter. So, I'll be giving a small description with the topic, as my intention is to inform the whole world and not just the English-speaking population residing in some developed country. If it reminds you of any familiar topic (which might happen because our world is divided more by languages than by international borders), you can skip directly to next one.

Don't take me wrong if you find that the number of topics discussed here belong more to your country. Actually, these topics have been on hot plate for years and this book does not intend to throw you into the jungle of confusion. These topics have been mentioned here just to remind you where we have actually reached in the name of progress & security.

Then we will be finding, what actually went wrong? It would take some of your time, if you don't know anything. Some Books & YouTube videos have also been mentioned for further research. But please take note of the feelings, which you'll have, while going through this material and this will be reminded in some chapter to come.

And please don't ignore this chapter or you will have to come back for revision. This whole chapter may make you feel boring & drowsy but its part of the learning process. Best of Luck!

Chapter 1.1

Conspiracy: Governments

So, here you will find what had really been going on in our political-military world. What these Developed or Superpower countries might be doing with your hard-earned money? I read somewhere about some Illuminati stuff, that said follow the money if you want to find what these secret people with their own secret military & hi-tech equipment are hiding.

But actually, we local people don't have that sharp intellect and contacts to do that. But here we can actually have a reality check as to where our world stands today & what might come in the future! Just copy-paste it to your favourite search engine!

- Philadelphia Experiment: This landmark experiment was the turning point in Human history when Man really started playing God. It involved the greatest geniuses of all time viz. Nikola Tesla. Government did everything to keep it secret all the time but it eventually slipped out.

The experiment involved camouflaging the actual ship from radar electrically but something went wrong & the whole ship, with its complete crew, vanished into another dimension and reappeared few hours later a few miles away from the place of experiment. More details can be checked over the Internet.

- Invisible Soldiers: The experiment mentioned just before this topic was the Beginning & this topic may or may not be its culmination point. Go to YouTube. In the Search bar, type "Invisible Soldiers". In the listed videos, the first one should be a video from America-Iraq war that got recorded by a local security camera & the owner just uploaded it for the world to see.

An American tank emerges from one corner then some American soldiers arrive from other direction and jumping into tank cavity. Those soldiers were first completely invisible but just before climbing over the tank hood; they appeared out of thin air. The most surprising thing was that they were not wearing any kind of gadgets for invisibility. Check it out!!

- Neutron Bombs: As we have already discussed before, that America knew everything about the havoc that these Nuclear bombs may pose and render the area useless for next few decades or centuries, so they invented these Neutron bombs as its alternative. These bombs do nothing. The immediate area near the explosion site is converted to dust while any living being in the circumference of next few miles is killed immediately.

The Radiation level persists for next 2-3 days but after one week or so, the area becomes normal for human beings to enter. More details can be found over the Internet. So there isn't any case where we cannot expect any Nation to nuke us just because it will render the area useless for next few decades, they have their alternatives ready! So who is at loss finally?

- Bio-Chemical Weapons: Modern weaponry used to create terror in an area which doesn't needs to be conquered. Chlorine, White Phosphorus, Napalm, Anthrax are all names of same stuff.
- Psychic Soldiers: There was a short movie named "Men Who Stare At Goats" which better describes this topic. It must be available on the YouTube or somewhere on the Internet. It involves exploiting Psychic abilities of Kundalini aspirants for selfish intents.
- Psychotronic Weapons: Ah! These are the weapons that some secret group in America had been using on its own citizens. Many people have suspected & complained about symptoms related to these. These weapons have been described to alter the mood of the target by electronic means. One more thing, a website claimed to make these rays ineffective by covering one's head with aluminium foil. More details can be found over the Internet.
- Synthetic Telepathy (Voice of God): Somewhat similar to above weapon but here a human voice is involved. The process involves creating psychological pressure in the target. For example, a person is sitting outside a crowded restaurant basking under the sun. And suddenly s/he hears some whispers in ears, trying to converse with him/her. S/He is startled and looks around. Everything is normal except that person.

After few hours or days this happens again. The voice pretends to be of his/her favourite deity and discloses few secrets which only s/he is aware of. Then for next few days it befriends him/her. It advises him/her, makes him/her comfortable and pretends to be his/her guide. But then it starts pressurizing him/her to do something against his/her will. To do what they want him/her to complete.

And when s/he is completely under their control, they get rid of him/her either by putting him/her behind bars by completing silly tasks of shooting in Public area & killing someone or by pressurizing him/her to commit suicide.

But a background search will reveal that this technology was invented by some American teenager, who was very fond of Electronic circuitry, but then this technology was confiscated by some Men-In-Blacks (MIBs) and that teenager was threatened for life. More details can be found over the Internet.

- Scalar Weapons: One of the products from the research of Nikola Tesla. According to some researchers, it was stolen by Russian spies during Cold war time then developed further. They are considered to be more deadly than Nuclear weapons. Till date, it is said, more than 150 countries are having these weapons & many others are researching upon it. More details can be found over the Internet.
- Endless Arms Race: Yeah! This should have been the main headline of this chapter. It all started with Bamboo sticks, then Arrows & Spears and hasn't completed even today. Now much of our hard-earned money, which we pay as taxes, goes into this never-ending cycle, instead of actual development. And the list may continue forever....
- Weather Manipulation (HAARP): Another product from the research of Nikola Tesla. It seems that this particular name "Tesla" has become a name more attached to our miseries than our pleasures. God bless him!

As per the researchers, everything that we see or touch is electrical in nature & its Frequency plays an important part deciding many of its properties & subsequent results. And this applies to Earth as well. Its weather character is also electrical in nature.

I had seen images on websites showing Base stations beaming High intensity waves into the atmosphere. More details can be found over the Internet.

- Experiments in Top Secret Military Labs: This phenomenon applies more suitably to Developed countries than others. They have been developing everything in the name of National Security. More details can be found over the Internet.

- Free Energy Patents Suppression & Anti-gravity Technology: I took a shallow dive into this topic and when searched over the Internet, there are some names which shine more among the others, viz Thomas Henry Moray, Nikola Tesla, John Keely, Viktor Grebennikov, Viktor Schauburger, John Searl & many others. Simply enter Free Energy Devices in explorer and you will not be able to leave even for your meals.

But when this topic is entered in search bar, a disturbing truth is revealed that till date nearly 7000 patents in this particular field have been directly suppressed or secretly eliminated. The applicant was either paid hefty amount to remove his application or was killed by some MIB's. Don't go for Anti-gravity Technology in YouTube or you will waste your time watching fake videos of some Alien ship that doesn't exist.

Only some of these videos may be actually beneficial for you that may actually propel you to research on your own. Many people have ended up filling multiple hard drives with data related to this topic that leads to nowhere! Better go for some chat room or similar website which has tested them within affordable costs.

Though Human body is safe for Currents above 700Hz but High Voltage & High Frequency circuitry is not an easy task to complete, especially with those annoying spikes & crackling sounds and the resulting behaviour of surrounding air. And these secret groups are famous for shutting down any website that has something important to teach us so better keep looking.

- New World Order: This is a very difficult topic to explain in Laymen's terms. Better search the Internet for further explanation.
- Pole shift: As per research, the Magnetic Poles of Earth aren't fixed and have been found to shift 1 cm every year towards the opposite pole. Once in 1300 years, on average, these poles have been seen to exchange their places & as is evident from Ancient records.

So we are nearing another one in near future, which may or may not be accompanied by further depletion of Ozone layer & Failure of Electrical Power Supply System on a global level. Because the path that will be traced by the poles during shift will remain without any Ozone cover and the life will be adversely affected in that area. Recently, it has been found that this displacement rate has increased from few centimeters to several kilometers. More details can be found over the Internet.

- Planet X: Ah! You must have already heard about this by now. Egyptian scripture has it on records and describes about a change in the direction of Sunrise about five times till date. That means the Sun didn't rise from the East but somewhere else. And that phenomenon is largely blamed upon an undiscovered planet named "Planet X".

It has many names like Nibiru or Planet Nine. More details can be found over the Internet. But one question arises here. Will your Government ever inform you about its detection & watch the resulting psychological apocalypse? Whole Earth will go into Panic, the moment it's informed. Do you think it will happen? It would be a more horrible scenario than Final World War (FWW).

- Global Climate Change: No explanation required!
- End of World Prophecies: Nah!
- Theft cases of Nuclear material: Since its discovery & development, the Nuclear technology had kept its beholders on their toes. There have been innumerable theft cases of Nuclear fuel & even Nuclear waste from the source itself, but most remain unreported. Just copy-paste this & a similar chill should run through your body. More details can be found over the Internet.
- War crimes- Now, I don't have words to describe it here. Just copy-paste it & see the time slowing down around you. Search for Rape of Nanking, War crimes of WW2. There is also a website available (uncensoredhistory.blogspot.com). Read them and just imagine what will happen if the Final World War breaks out?
- Suggested YouTube Documentaries- The Revelations of the Pyramids, 9/11 (2001) Truth Exposed, The Men Who Stare At Goats.

I don't know how you're feeling now? But if you are new to the topics discussed above, I feel great to direct your Curiosity in some better way. Do extract some time for the eye-opening videos mentioned above. These topics are among the most discussed ones on the internet & there can be many more....

Conspiracy: Medical & Pharmacy

Good health is something that even a beggar strives to keep. But there is remarkable difference with what is actually meant by Being Healthy? Almost everyone on Earth has some sort of disease though not visible on first instance. Then there is further difference with the Therapies that one may opt for! Then add to it the efficiency & reliability of the Medical Practitioner.

Today, India has become the largest ground for Pharmaceutical MNCs to graze upon. Medicines which have been banned, even in other parts of world, can be seen on sale in all developing countries. And the governing body in India is silent, because the local population prefers to try different medicines without seeing the face of Medical Practitioner.

And add to that the lack of Government Hospitals. There are some reported cases on TV where one patient enrolled to see a Specialist Doctor in a Government Hospital but was given a future date, usually two-three weeks away, for that purpose. And what would happen to the person in that interval isn't Government's responsibility.

While the present condition of Government hospitals in rural areas is such that most of them lack basic equipment even for normal routine work. Our Government, in the meantime, is busy in wasting money on Bullet train, Statue of Unity & Moon mission. Even the Medical students resist their deployment in rural areas as part of their curriculum. But who cares?

Some medical scholars from developed countries have raised their voice against the unnecessary vaccination of children using vaccines with suppressed results. That means these Pharmacy companies do not disclose the side effects of any medicine but usually portray the beneficial ones only.

And the time, when their side-effects itself becomes a disease, in most general case, these MNCs have already recovered their production costs from the market and most of the time are ready with another drug for the treatment of side-effects.

Now in this scenario we'll discuss some topics which boosted the growth of these Pharmacy companies. I'll try to keep everything short & sweet as before. Almost everything mentioned above are side effects of a secret game that is played upon local population.

Allopathic medicine always had a profound characteristic of blaming outside factors for anything that happens inside. In Medical terms, they call it Treatment of Symptoms & not the Cause of a Disease. And as I read on one website that says-

While on the other hand, Traditional therapies always knew this that Human body has the ability to heal itself and that anything visible as Symptom might be just a result of some minor disturbance to that system of healing.

What Medical science portrays as Nutritional Deficiency may be just a result of balance created by the body trying to adjust to scenario created within due to some external factors. Since the time, Pharmacy got industrialized and tried to reach every corner of the planet, they have always been seen searching someone to blame.

It's as if they are busy in a self declared war against an unknown enemy. I'll put everything in series that they find easy to blame. So it's Hygiene-Germs-Nutrition-Calories-Pollution-Genes. So first they were blaming this & then that. Ever imagined what would happen if there were no other organism, other than human beings, in the whole world? You won't be able to digest even the food that you love to eat.

Now recently there is a new entry in this class, and they call it “Super Bug”, the latest strain of bacteria which shows as something but behaves as something else & survives as if no drug can defeat it. The whole of Medical community is divided for reasons of its occurrence.

So here we come face to face with a simply irrelevant question.

“Why did God create micro-organisms when he knew that most of them are detrimental to human beings?”

Though this question may feel absurd and none of the reader may actually feel to pay any attention to this but as we move further, we will see a definite relation to this particular question, and we'll answer this along the route. But for the time being, we'll leave it here as it is!

Now we have something more to read & search further here. If you search over the Internet with particular phrase like “History of Polio” or “History of AIDS”, you will come to see something unusual here.

- Polio: The first reported case of this dreaded disease came into limelight during WW2 time. When American troops first landed in Gulf region, they had to survive on local food & water from which, as per research, the adult soldiers contacted this virus. More details can be found on the Internet.

- AIDS: Here also a more-or-less similar story is seen to repeat itself. When Western rulers industrialized African continent for mining Gold & precious elements, large number of manpower was mobilized from the whole continent to work in mines.

As per research, the nearby forest area was invaded by local people to hunt for meat. And from there, in one such incident, a hunter was severely bitten by a wild monkey, resulting in the entry of virus into human blood.

Now due to urbanization, the workers were seen indulging in sex with local maids on a regular basis. When these workers went to their homes, they were already infected with virus leading to a faster spread.

Now we have a glitch in this story. Africans have been living by hunting for thousands of years but were never seen suffering with any such disease so where from this virus entered the monkeys? Medical scholars dumped this particular question.

But I got my answers from an important book named "Suppressed Inventions & Other Discoveries by Jonathan Eisen" that exposes the corrupt practices adopted by Pharmacy companies working in synchronization with Military recruits.

The book talks about several evidences that proves the involvement of Military-Medical tie-ups for the development & spreading of both Polio & AIDS Virus. The same may be the case with Super Bug (Candida Auris).

So something smells too fishy here. They are developing the strain in the lab, testing them on lab animals for efficacy. If everything goes well, then they search for some rare drug for the treatment & wait for the proper time to launch it into some distant location.

Then they act as if they are researching to find the strain responsible for that disease. They might act as if there is a shortage of production and wait until the disease turns into an epidemic! And the rest of the story can be very well imagined!

The same story might hold true with the Genetically Modified crops where only beneficial effects are portrayed but the real intention might be something else. Now these companies are promoting their fancy crops all around the world displaying only the advantages but may not disclose the side effects associated with it.

So even if they get two different drugs for its treatment, they will opt for the costly one only to harvest its capital value. Further story can be well assumed. I'll leave this topic here only. More details can be found over the Internet.

A little further research reveals more disturbing data. A particular group involving AMA, FDA & Big Pharma players have been blamed as responsible for the suppression of affordable cures of all diseases. You can yourself do some internet research by using terms like "Suppressed Cancer Cure" where the name of the disease can be replaced with any name that you want to search like AIDS etc.

Some of Suppressed therapies include-

- MWO: Dr. Georges Lakhovsky
- Frequency Therapy: Dr. Royal Raymond Rife. His name shines most among others because his therapy created affordable method to cure any disease within the confines of one's home.
You need only a computer, cheap audio amplifier and frequency software for this. Just search this term on the Internet "Using Rife Therapy using Computer". Some sites give detailed explanation of the method involved here.
- Radionics: Dr Ruth Brown. This therapy is a vast subject in itself. The more you read about it, familiar it becomes.
- Electro-therapeutics & Vibrational Medicine: Nikola Tesla
- AIDS: Dr. Steven Kaali & Dr. William Lyman, Patent no.-5139684. Their research said that the virus responsible for this disease can be impaired from spreading further by passing the infected blood through a process called Blood Electrification equipment, resembling the one used for Dialysis, through which a small current of 50uA is passing.
The current impairs the outer covering of the virus, which it uses to transfer the viral code to the nucleus of target cell, thus rendering the virus as virtually dead matter to be removed through excretory system. The inventors were so terrified with the FDA that they hesitated to answer any question related to above patent.
- Cancer: Have you read anything about Dr. Simoncini Tullio of Italy. Just search his name on the internet and read the hidden information. There is also a good website "www.cancertutor.com" available.
- Future possibilities of Pharmacy experiments: I read this stuff on some unknown website. It described how the cytoplasm of a plant cell was transferred into the cavity of an animal cell to create an Immortal cell with multiple nuclei. Yes! You hear me right! They really created a cell that never died and called it "The B cell". B for its discoverer John Brown.

Searching this term over Internet doesn't leads anywhere. The power of that special cell culture was that it cured every disease. John Brown said that the cell culture emitted some unknown rays that were beneficial for the recovery of human body.

The process involved charging potable water with that special cell culture for predefined time, then removing the culture from the water and then giving that water to the patient to drink.

And within hours the patient was back on feet. But again those culprits interrupted the progress, pushing the therapy into oblivion. My intention of mentioning it here was that this particular method, of combining one cell nuclei within the cavity of another cell, has opened another field for corrupt pharmacy practitioners to create deadly strains which might not have any solution & might be used by Military as a Biological weapon.

And by the way, they have a cold store where a sample of every organism is kept frozen & preserved for future use.

- Capital Exploitation of Yoga & Ayurveda: Now these names have recently become a hot plate to feed upon. When the whole world is seeking a solution to their problems, some crooks from these trades have made it a capital chance to harvest.

A decent research into this field of Yoga will reveal that these self-declared gurus have nothing to teach, but they satiate their own animal instincts through these arts. A true guru will never make his/her students to wear skin-tight or bare clothing while doing Yoga. I heard somewhere about cases of sexual abuse by these false gurus. I feel deeply hurt whenever such reports surface.

A recent comment by someone from a different field says-

"Being a Guru is completely different from being a Teacher".

A true guru will make you feel his/her presence (through his teaching) even when one is thousands of miles away.

While Fools search for someone who looks & speaks like him/her but a true disciple is able to learn even from inanimate objects because it is said that "Learning is a journey not a destination".

Loads of advertisements are flooding TVs about benefits of some unknown herbal medicine with unknown herbal formula. While Ayurvedic medicines are specially designed after face-to-face meeting with the Practitioner.

The Practitioner has tons of questions to ask the patient about his/her life style, body type and food habits but these crooks are following the path of orthodox medicine which ignores these points and justifies popping-a-pill treatment.

- Tobacco Vs Cancer: Now this question may surprise you deeply. Historically all over the world, we can find several examples when people used to smoke tobacco on different occasions as a tradition, but we never heard about any case of Cancer. This particular practice can be found in rural & tribal areas even today.

But now every other person who smokes is found to suffer from this dreaded disease. Does Orthodox or even Traditional medical practitioners have any answer? My book helps you to find answer to this question also!

Chapter 1.3

Conspiracy: Education System

Now everyone dreams to study & earn a respectable life (Including Me!). Even a small child loves to do that. But what happens when you learn that the whole system of education is nothing but similar to breeding cattle. You are educated to be a civilized slave.

When you come to know that there is a secret lobby which acts as Knowledge stakeholders, but is silently working to suppress any information that might benefit the mankind, even in coming decades. How would you feel? If you have carefully read that book "Suppressed Inventions & Other Discoveries by Jonathan Eisen", you can easily derive this conclusion.

Your education limits your Curiosity, retards your Experimental nature & forces you to think what cannot or should not be done, instead of learning by trial.

Just think for a moment what would have been the face of our world if Nikola Tesla had suppressed his experimental mind & accepted his Professor's decision to stay with the Rule book. No Bird would have sat on the Electric Pole which stands outside your window.

Why? Because Edison's DC system required tons of copper wires for carrying electricity from its source to the destination that used to make Electric Poles look like huge Spider webs. You can verify this from Old photographs from that time.

So our present Education system wants to make you an Edison at the highest level but generally a civilized slave. In Hindi, we call it "Naukari" (pronounced Na-oo-Kari) meaning a job but the initial portion is composed of a word "Naukar" (pronounced Na-oo-Kar) which means a servant. You can very well imagine what I mean to say by this!

Our Education is meant for getting a job and being a servant. Nothing more to say here! This topic is not new and tons of literature is available on this. I have included some known names which can make your search easy. Don't take it easy because this whole first chapter has something important to learn.

To begin, there is a fantastic book named "Forbidden Archaeology by Michael Cremo & Richard Thomson" that has hundreds of examples where important evidences of Human prehistory were intentionally suppressed. This book will consume your whole week if you are a busy person. But there is also a condensed version named "The Hidden History of Human Race" available.

There is another important book named "Forbidden Secret by Jonathan Gray". Our Education system still hangs on this false theory of Charles Darwin to complete its target. This is a very good book which smartly describes the flaws in Charles Darwin's Theory of Evolution.

But I advise you not to read beyond the initial 100 pages because after that the author started insulting his own hard work done in that particular chapter and started preaching like a church priest about the arrival of Messiah and similar fishy stuff which will make you cry when you compare the present world scenario with the fake hopes that these people are trying to sow in your heart.

Now if you have time you can read that book to the last page, but we know that whatever Authors, like these, are trying to say will never happen because all the stories in all religious books had metaphorical meaning. We'll witness this particular statement in coming chapters.

We will expose them in our journey to the Truth as to what might be the hidden meaning of Vedic verses. As I said in the advertisement for this book, that we are disclosing the Truth that might exist without involving any God.

For the time being, in the last chapter we talked about Nikola Tesla. This great genius will remain under our radar in many coming chapters. This name is a Subject in itself. The more you dive deeper, the newer it seems.

It has already been established in Court that Radio was invented by Tesla but even today, our Education system feels safe to keep this genius out of its syllabus. In India, Nikola Tesla is portrayed as Father of Alternating Current in Electrical Engineering textbooks. True! But just after this single line, you don't find anything else. How disgusting!!

There is another man named "Immanuel Velikovsky" who authored "Worlds in Collision". The Author gave an exceptional theory with solid proof that planet Venus doesn't belong to our system and was an immigrant from outside, thus directly opposing Orthodox Church's theory that our solar system had been stable since its formation. More disturbing is the fact that even top scientists, of that time, supported this baseless theory of Church.

Author had solid educational qualifications but the day this book went into press, whole world broke on him. The Editor, who had accepted his draft, was forcibly removed from his position. The Author's Professor-ship came under direct attack. Even the book remained in demand for many years; the Author had to live rest of his life in oblivion.

Our last example is an American whose name was Thomas Townsend Brown. This person worked really hard till the end of his life on Electro-gravitics (Anti-gravity from High Voltage) & Petro-voltaics (Power from Natural Rocks).

His only mistake was that he kept thinking that he had invented something new but the reality was that his discovery was already under experimental stage somewhere in military labs but had been kept secret from public eye.

The Military ransacked his room for identifying his current research status but were depressed that he was far behind from the actual progress already done by them. They tried to convince him to drop his further research in this line which he didn't. And one can fairly assume his future life.

So, what is the Education system trying to do? Designing A Perfect Slave! A good remark by Mr. Cullen Smith from "Lifting The Veil" explains-

Adopted From Lifting The Veil videos

For the time being we have one more thing to discuss. In Ancient India, we had our children studying in Ashrams located outside the city area, into deep forest. The children lived without any protection from wild animals, under the guidance of some Sage who didn't took any fee from his students but actually gave them some valuable lessons, useful for whole life to come.

What was his actual motto? Was he just training them to recite the Vedas that Hindu pundits do even today or was he having something more to teach which our present comfort education system fails to deliver. We'll answer this particular question in coming chapters.

Conspiracy: Entertainment Industry

So, we've another bad news. After reading this chapter, you'd probably see every animation movie with suspicion. In this chapter, we'll see some proven examples where they were encoding Sub-conscious messages in Cartoon movies. And that was prevalent in the 80's, so you can very well expect what method they would be using today?

Just search this in your favourite browser and see the listed websites one-by-one. Visible & Hidden Sub-conscious messages in Disney Cartoon films.

Oh! I can see your face! And No! Because there is something more! It was nearly two years ago, when I saw that documentary which showed how our Sub-conscious mind reacts to each-&-every image that appears on our retina. In the documentary, they played a short video clip on the screen and a group of college youngsters was asked to write any thought that comes in their mind after watching the clip.

You would be surprised to learn that they couldn't see anything on the screen but after watching the clip, all of them drew a Watch on the paper. When the operator was asked to repeat the clip at a slow speed, they were surprised to see that the whole clip was completely blank, except a very brief appearance of a picture of Watch in the mid.

Technically speaking, the human eye is hyper-sensitive and records everything that appears on the retina, even if the Conscious mind cannot perceive anything. That means, a conscious human mind can process 10-12 frames per second(fps). But this very clip can be made with more than 12 fps speed.

Let us say 50 fps and when one of those images from 50 frames is replaced with a message or image & then played, the conscious mind will not be able to perceive anything but the sub-conscious mind will absorb it immediately and stores it as feelings. So here lies the trick with those eye-catching fast moving advertisement clips.

They may hide any message, anything ranging from a sharp weapon to any obscene sexual image. And if this can happen in a one-second clip, you can very well assume what can be hidden in an 1½ hr long Hollywood movie. So they are programming our sub-conscious mind virtually. Nothing more to say here!

This might be happening right now in almost all action movies from Hollywood & even in South Indian movies, where they keep the action sequence so fast that the viewer just misses the sub-conscious messages just thrown at his/her retina. People are almost fan of South Indian action movies and in recent years, people from North India are also falling for them. And result is the rising incidents of violence.

So this is the level of control which is maintained by this hidden lobby. There can be many other topics that can be added to this list, like Sub-conscious sounds. We can explore hundreds of examples from whole world and hundreds of books here. But what would be the end result?

But my question here is that is it still possible to revert everything to its beginning! Is it possible to make all their weapons ineffective, to be thrown in junk?

Now in further chapters we'll be exploring our last hope for reverting to the beginning! Yes! Religion! If everything doesn't go well, then we'll seek other hopes towards our mission.

Secrecy of Religions

Now, I'll have to go through the other way to make it easier for you to understand, so let us take a short story as an example. Suppose Jesus is returning to Earth and no one knows about it. And suppose he's already incarnated somewhere in America.

Now what would happen to the powers of that Son of God when he is vaccinated, even before taking birth? As a child, he's made to fear from germs & diseases. And as an immature teen, he's poisoned with addiction to Smartphones, Gadgets & PC Games.

And as a young student, he's poisoned with all that stuff of Nationalism & Terrorism. As a graduate, he is poisoned with Super Bikes, Rock Music, Rave parties, Drug Addictions & Sexual content! And as a mature adult, he's poisoned by the dreams of Quick Money & Sex.

Yes! You got it right! His powers will lay inert, because to awaken them, he is required to believe in them first. This particular statement can be directly verified from the Pre-30 life of Jesus himself when he lived like a normal child, away from all worldly attachments, among the Tibetan monks!

And what is the present scenario of our world? Christians are residing both in America & Russia. So will he be able to do anything? I don't think he'll dump his feelings of Nationalism for the sake of Christianity! And the same stands true for Islam or any other religion!

And suppose even if he's able to do that, will his National leaders leave him unscathed? When none of us have any right even to step on our national borders and require further legal documents even to see the other side of it, then who will help him unite all the Christians of our world?

Now, don't waste my time with all that fishy stuff of Angels & Fairies! Stay on logical ground please! Even Bible never talked about any divine intrusion when those Sons of God were raping daughters of Human civilization!

Either these Angels & Fairies are all too powerful or none at all! Otherwise, why they don't appear in front of the whole population in full daylight? Why they stay away from human beings?

Oh! Yes! The Reality? Whatever be the intensity of darkness in our Hearts & Deeds, but we want our Messiah to arrive in a full factory packed condition (as if just dropping out of an egg shell), free of any dirt (aka dirty habits)? And this trait applies to every human being in every corner of our world!

And further we want him just to forgive us and proceed for crucifixion himself! Again! For our sins! If this is not the truth then what are we expecting him to do? And what these priests have been preaching all along? Just wait brother! He's coming! To forgive you of every sin! Pure BS!

By the way, one particular question may arise here that if God really exists then why only selected people know about his possible arrival? Is God afraid to appear in front of the whole population to prove his existence? Search the Internet! All you can see is the proof? Just a proof that God exists somewhere!

A bread piece with a Jesus face burnt on it! A stone idol inside a temple absorbing milk! Or any incident that happened or is happening as written in the Bible or Koran or Purana! It is written! That is written! That is mentioned in so-&-so page of that holy book! What is all this?

They are using just a proof to state that someday the Messiah will arrive! Why the Messiah doesn't personally come in full sunlight just to say that he will return on this-or-that day in the future? Or just send some Angel to do this?

But no one is actually saying it! That here he comes! Here is your Creator! Talk & listen to him now, face-to-face. Ask him those questions which nobody answered! But heck! All we're told is that the Messiah was coming, but he changed his plan on the way for so-&-so silly reason. And for the time being, you can again request him to return and beg him further for forgiveness.

If begging is the only thing that you've always loved, already tried but still expect his return, then I don't think you should move beyond this point! But if you're exhausted with this act and want to find the truth then fasten your seat belts! Because the matter beyond this point will shake your faith to your roots!

Now! This chapter would be very difficult & dangerous for me to complete as I'm trying to awaken your sleeping faith. I'll lose everything or get everything.

Ha! Ha! Ha! You'll claim me a fool for you already have Faith. Faith in your God! But no my friend! I'm trying to awaken your sleeping soul, to have faith in yourself. For when you are awake, you'll be able to see the truth that hides behind that curtain named as Religion.

I don't have any knowledge about Hinduism (regarding the reasons mentioned below) but yes, it is happening in Christianity, & Islam too. It's as if there is a neck-to-neck fight going on between them. As to who has the largest number of followers?

Both of them have adopted different methods to lure innocent people into their trap. Billions of dollars are being poured regularly for this purpose.

No! Don't take me wrong! I'm a Hindu. And I'll be taking Hinduism too under the same hammer in the very next chapter that is sure to give you a huge jerk to open your eyes, wide open. And that is why I kept it in a safe place!

But let me take others first! Now answer me just a simple question! Is a Christian residing in America different from the one residing in Russia? Or is a Muslim residing in Mecca different from the one living in Indonesia?

The answer has to be no! Then why the two of them are living in completely different scenario? Then where is the so-called love of Jesus or Allah! Why nothing is changing? Why Jesus isn't doing anything to stop the Cold war going on for generations between America & Russia? And why the Indonesian Muslim is facing Earthquakes & Tsunami every other day?

Should I say that to have the love of Jesus, one must reside in Vatican City? And to have the mercy of Allah one should immigrate to Mecca, legally or illegally! Is it so? Or should I say that either God is busy with something else? Or else, as we shall see, there is no Allah or God!

That is why this so called the curtain named Religion has to be removed to let everybody see the truth with their bare eyes. First, let us see some promising quotes said in the praise of Islam & Christianity (taken from some unknown site).

Everything happens as per the will of Almighty. But the individual is still responsible for his/her actions.

Anyone please tell them that there are better ways to create confusion. If everything is happening as per the will of God then where the morality of action comes into play? If something has been written as one's destiny then what is the requirement of morality?

Suppose there is a person who has just met with some serious accident and is lying in the hospital. Suppose the vehicle, that struck him, was driven by one of his close relatives. And for the sake of his relationship, he/she didn't register a Police complaint.

Now this was a moral action performed by the person to save his/her relative's family from court. So what God or Allah should have done to him? Bless him with good health at least! But we know that chances still remain that he/she will die.

So there were actually two tragic incidents that happened to him, one after the other. One caused him/her Pain & Suffering while the other caused him/her Death. And both can be easily taken as will of God or Allah. Why his/her action couldn't get him/her good health back? And what is the benefit of doing such good deeds if one is not saved from the second tragic event?

If you take this particular question to your Religious Priests then you will find them saying that God or Allah saw him/her in pain and that is why He gave him/her Death? But if He cared so much for him/her why did He make the first incident to occur? To test his faith! So this means that God or Allah didn't know what would happen after the first incident occurred! Is it so?

One should believe that either the Time is responsible for that event or the Almighty is himself testing his/her faith.

So that means, they are themselves confused with the question and don't know who should be claimed responsible for it!

One should believe in the Day of Judgement & Resurrection at the end of Time, when all the dead people will be raised from their graves. And then the Almighty will judge them as per their faith & deeds and send them to Paradise or to Hell.

Oh! My! Hasn't anyone still told them that they still have many other ways to create Confusion? Now here we have to take everything separately in smaller parts to judge properly.

- First, they forgot to tell us when there will be End of Time! If they haven't mentioned it clearly, how can they make us believe in the Day of Judgement & Resurrection?

And by the way, this particular verse is in direct opposition to the belief that our solar system is stable in nature which they used to preach in the time of Immanuel Velikovsky (discussed in earlier chapter). If the universe is stable then there cannot be any End of Time.

- They are directly insisting that once you opt for this religion, you will have full freedom to do anything until end of Time (which hasn't been mentioned anywhere).

- Oh! Here again! So they are saying it clearly that if you die as a Christian or Muslim, you'll have to wait in your grave to be raised for judgement and you cannot rise before that.

But we all know about hundreds of Christians & Muslims who have reincarnated as human beings again, so they seem to have broken the divine rules as they were said to wait for the J-day. Allah & God should be informed about this!

- Now there is one more story to add here! You must have certainly seen someone in Church or Mosque, describing his/her dream in detail about visiting Gardens of Paradise & Fires of Hell. Now this is where the whole story becomes fishy.

On one hand, they say that ... Oh! Just read that stuff again (written in bold black letters in the beginning of this statement). So, he/she was allowed to go on a free tour to those places without any visa.

Oh! No! You don't need any visa to get there! Sorry! Just joking! So, on one hand they are saying that you'll have to wait until J-day, but here you have broken the rules of God & paid a visit without permission.

By permission, it is meant without your faith & deeds being judged. This is not fair! It's Pure Cheating!!

So logically invalid! If Love & Forgiveness is the first & last word that can be directly attached to God or Allah, then there isn't any need to test the faith of its children. He'll either love & forgive everyone or he won't spare anyone!

In Hinduism, comments like these haven't been mentioned in any holy book, though we used to hear similar comments in Religious occasions headed by some fake guru.

I think! I've done my job! But wait! Our lesson is not yet complete! So here I've taken down some real life incidents, where you can actually question the justice & existence of God & Allah! Though they happened in India but similar incidents can be seen in every part of the world!

- Infants: This incident occurred in April 2018. There were two men who used to run an illegal Ultrasound clinic! A pregnant lady came for sex determination of the unborn. As usual, they checked & said it's a girl! Is it Ok?

No! The Tragic story starts here! When the lady had delivered the child, what those culprits came to see was that the child was a boy & not a girl! Oops! They took it as a possible mark of insult to the name of their hospital!

So they took a sharp surgical instrument & cut away reproductive part of the new born to appear it like a female organ. Unfortunately! The child died within few hours due to excessive bleeding! Both these culprits ran away after throwing the dead baby into backyard bushes! So! What was God doing at that time? Was it required to test the faith of a newborn? Did that newborn know what actually a God is?

- Teenager: This incident happened in Kashmir in Mid 2018. A young married man from Kashmir went to another part of Northern India for job. A few years later, the wife came to know that her husband has married another woman at that place. And has a child there.

The couple already had a teenage boy as child. So due to jealousy, the first wife began to plan for revenge. She began to hide her jealous feelings from her husband. When the husband thought that everything has returned to normal again, he took his daughter (of second wife) for a visit to Kashmir.

One day, when the Husband was out for some reason, the first wife took the girl with her teenage son and his son's friend into deep forest. There she ordered both teenagers to rape the girl. Then the wife strangled her throat.

And when the girl fell unconscious, she took a sharp knife & slit her throat. Still not completely satisfied, she poured kerosene on girl's body & burnt her completely! They disposed the dead body by burying her underground!

So again! What was God doing at that time? Was it required to test the faith of an innocent girl?

- Women: Now this is a famous case from New Delhi popularly known as Nirbhaya Rape case. In this case, an innocent college girl was gang raped in a running bus in December 2012. More details can be found online.

The Rapists have been arrested and are finally approaching their judgement. But I have a question here. Didn't God love her? Or did God couldn't find any other way to test her faith?

Similar cases of atrocities can be taken from Syria where young girls and women were abducted from homes and raped for months along by ISIS recruits.

And that same question again! Where is our beloved God? Was it required to test their faith?

- International Organ Transplant (Harvesting) Tourism: Now this is a gruesome scenario that has been observed to rise especially in developing countries like India, Pakistan & Philippines but has taken a devil's move in Communist China where reports say that organs from executed prisoners were being used for this purpose.

One may check the case of Uyghur Muslims & Tibetan rebels who were detained for political reasons and then executed for organ trade. Since year 2000, young Uyghur Muslims & Tibetans have been disappearing mysteriously, never to be seen again.

I read above article on The Diplomat by Matthew Robertson & Jacob Lavee. And another on The Washington Post by Asif Efrat, which said that Illegal Human Organ Trade has made Pakistan a haven for above trade where poor people were lured into false money trap by agents & then locked until operation.

I made a search on this topic after watching a report on TV where a Lady Representative from Baluchistan was delivering speech in UN General Assembly saying that Pakistani Military was itself involved in abducting the Baluchistan rebels who were opposing the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor and were never seen again.

Indian Government has curbed this trade from its roots but black markets agents still remain hidden at local level. Now that same question again! Where is our beloved God? Was it required to test their faith?

So to sum up I have some very simple questions!

(Q)Do you consider God as your Father?

(Q)Do you think the God wrote your destiny?

(A)Yes! (Most Probably)

(Q)Then who wrote the destinies of the victims mentioned in above cases? Why the culprits in all the incidents described just above don't fear any law? And who is responsible for such incident? Do you really believe that a father can actually write those lines of dreaded moments in his child's destiny?

You will take above questions to your religious priest from Islam, Christianity or Hinduism and find yourself confused to your toes, that everything was happening according to the will of that Unknown power who promised to appear in so-&-so page of some religious book, but is actually absent when we need him urgently, at least to answer our innocent question as to why this happened?

This time you will remain silent but your religious priest will say- God desired to test his/her faith so this destiny was written.

My conclusion- If a Father loves its Child from his heart, this kind of destiny will never exist! I repeat, if Love & Forgiveness are the only names of God then He will never write anyone's destiny in this way. But my question stands bare again!

(Q)What is God or Allah or Ishwara doing now? Where are they hiding now?

So! If you're ready to find answers to these questions, tighten your seat belts because we'll be facing all sorts of possibilities to answer these questions, including corruption on divine level! So this is the first and foremost question? Can we bribe the God? No! No! Why?

If this is not the case, then why do you seek an innocent animal to be sacrificed for your sins? What is it if not bribing? Still, not sure! And you still see him as a moral soul. Why? This is your turn to question your faith!

Do you remember what I said just a few passages before? Whatever be the intensity of darkness in our Hearts & Deeds, but we want our Messiah to arrive in a full factory packed condition (as if dropping out of an egg shell), free of any dirt (aka dirty habits)? Do you agree?

Don't smile like that! And stop scratching your head! We're trying to solve the greatest riddles of human history with simple means, as we shall see! Ok! Accepted! We cannot bribe him!

Let us consider another possibility! Are there more than one God? And one God is causing problems to the followers of other religion! But all Religious books, except Hinduism, talk of only one God! So, it is either Allah or God! Let your priests decide over this matter?

And if this is not true then why these culprits are preaching about their One to be Supreme! Why they want you to keep hanging under same branch for whole life that the Messiah will arrive one day to enjoy his crucifixion but bless us with 1000 years of peace?

And most important, why are they repeatedly postponing the date of Return? All religions included! Be it Jesus or Mohammad! And these Hindu priests went one step further and fixed the end of Kaliyuga as the day of arrival of Kalki!

But at the same time they extended the duration of Kaliyuga by such a gruesome amount that it won't end even if you are reborn as human being continuously for next thousand years.

And by the way, by hoping for the return of Jesus, what will you get? They are directly asking you to accept so called Jesus as your Ruler for next 1000 years! And it indicates that you haven't learned anything from past history of all Kings and from the wars that every ruler imposed upon the other.

So in my view, either there is no God or if there is one, he's sure not to arrive in our lifetime when we're struggling to survive the Final World War! Many people have tried to find answers for the second option but I would go with the first! Sorry Brother! I don't have any other option!

Now! For people who agree with me, I'll have to provide sufficient reasons to prove that there is no God! And for that we'll have to see why we don't want any God? Or taking it the other way around! Why we actually want God?

So if we ask anyone from any corner of world, why you want to meet God? He/she will answer that I've this or that problem. I've never been lucky. I never got peace in my life. Somebody did this or that to me!

Summing everything to a single line! You want someone else to solve your problems! And this is where everything gets messed up! What is actually causing all these problems in our life? It's like someone is throwing Coconuts on you from some hidden place! And you want someone else to stop that culprit from disturbing you, instead of searching yourself. Still didn't get my point?

To answer this simply critical question I'll take a philosophical statement from our ancestors known as "The Law of Sowing & Reaping" or "The Law of Cause & Effect". So what is actually this Sowing & Reaping? Now.....

Oh! I saw someone getting up to go! I think he/she is a hardcore believer in Religion. Hey! Who're you? S/He answered "I'm a Hindu". Oh! My! I told you. I'm in great trouble & I don't want to lose anyone! So! Ladies & Gentlemen! We'll set this law aside for the time being! And let's explore Hinduism, for the sake of Hindus, as our last hope for surviving the war! We Hindus don't want to question our faith! So my Christian & Muslim friends, just wait? And enjoy the drama of decryption of Hinduism first! So! Here We Go!

Mystery of Hinduism

So! Friends! This brings us directly to the decryption point of Hinduism. But why should I disturb anything when everyone here is happy with the literal description of their holy books? By answering this very simple question, I'll accomplish two targets.

First, to force all Hindus to review everything they've read about Hinduism in Vedic literature. Why? Because, even before getting its freedom, India had been a helpless witness to many communal riots. And I'll feel lucky if in this way I repay the debt of my motherland.

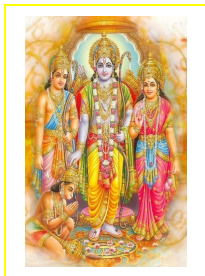

Though the whole world is my family! So this particular term "Motherland" does not hold any importance to me! And I'll give you all the proper reasons so that you are also forced to refine your thoughts about it!

And second, to answer those absurd questions that other religious scholars have thrown at Hinduism. Like, in some Hindu mythological stories, Hindu deities were seen to rape women but got forgiven for such heinous crime.

There will be much decryption exercises, involved in this process. But I'll start with the questions only! Questions & lots of Questions, which no one dared to face! Please bear this in your mind that any topic with a star mentioned just before it, should be taken as already been decrypted by me. So! Here is the list!

- (1) Just Google "Falsehood in Hinduism" or "Contradictions in Hinduism" and see yourself the different kinds of questions that should have been answered much before.
- (2) *Who is the Supreme creator- Brahm or Shakti?
- (3) *Who is the Supreme being-Brahma, Vishnu or Shiva?
- (4) Now this may be the question that the whole Hindu community had been waiting for from time immemorial. Did Lord Rama incarnate in India? If he did, then why there are numerous variations in the story of Ramayana in different scriptures?

For those people who don't know anything about Ramayana, I must say please Google this "Different versions of Ramayana". And you may see that the original Ramayana epic was written by Sage Valmiki, while other versions are more or less derivatives from that epic only.

The Ramcharit Manas written by Goswami Tulsidas is the most popular book among Indians Hindus.

- (5) If we take Valmiki Ramayana as the original one then we invite more trouble than the solution that we seek. Why? Just because there are many instances from Valmiki Ramayana which are not accepted by any Hindu. For example, Lord Rama was said to be an incarnation of Lord Vishnu but even being an Avatar, Sage Valmiki described him as fond of meat & liquor! Now how that can be true?

Now here, I must repeat my earlier comment that "Whatever be the intensity of darkness in our Hearts & Deeds, but we want our Messiah to arrive in a full factory packed condition (as if dropping out of an egg shell), free of any dirt (aka dirty habits)?" Now this applies to Hindus too! Do you now agree?

Same thing was talked about Lord Buddha by some authors that Siddhartha used to eat meat & drink liquor. I'm not sure about this one!

- (6) Dashrath-Kekayi case: According to Valmiki Ramayana, Kekayi was the 350th wife of King Dashrath. Even Lord Rama was said to have many wives. But Ramcharit Manas says that King Dashrath had just four wives. Why such variation? Sorry! Manipulation! Kekayi was the youngest wife of King Dashrath.
- (7) Ram-Shabari case: This is a particular incident where Lord Rama eats the fruits that were already eaten by an aged widow named Shabari. Now one thing to point out here is that this particular incident doesn't have any mention in original Valmiki Ramayana and must have been introduced later.

A similar story is found from the story of Buddha where Lord Buddha eats the other side of fruits that too were already eaten by an aged widow. Now the question is why they manipulated it to such an extent that people don't want to believe what they read with their own eyes?

(8)Sita's Chastity test: I don't know why Rama did this? Or in other words, I know why he did this? (Did you notice the star mark just before the topic) So if he didn't have any trust in his own wife then why did he chased her upto Lanka & put the lives of all those innocent monkeys warriors at stake?

(9)Pushpak Vimana Controversy: According to story, Bharat had vowed to Rama that if he didn't return immediately after 14 years of exile then Bharat would commit self-immolation. But according to tradition, the festival of Diwali (Day of Rama's Arrival at Ayodhya) is celebrated on the 20th day from Dushehra (Day of Victory over Lanka).

Hindu priests take help of Google maps as an evidence for the Rama to exist, which comes out to be nearly 20 days from Sri Lanka to Ayodhya in India. But even they know that Rama used the Pushpaka Vimana of Ravana to return to Ayodhya in time.

And Pushpaka Vimana is said to be a mystical plane that could fly at the speed of Thought. So what could be the highest speed of One's Thought when one is having an emergency situation created due to Bharat's pledge? You can very well assume!

And the expected time duration as shown by Google Maps was 21 days for a case when one has to walk for the whole distance of nearly 3500 km, without any stop. That is confusing?

(10)Ram Setu: Popularly known as "Adam's Bridge" among historians, Indian opinion says that the bridge was built by monkey warriors to reach to the other side of the channel to rescue Sita from the captivity of Ravana.

But recently, a survey by NASA satellite has added massive fuel to the fire. And whole Indian population, irrespective of class, education, status have joined the momentum to construct a massive temple at Ayodhya.

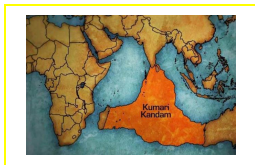

So what is so funny about it? The actual description by NASA says that the bridge has layers of some strata which is different from the surrounding soil at sea-bed and thus gives it an artificial nature that seems to have been definitely constructed by some human beings in the past. But they didn't say that the bridge has a layer of Rocks at some depth as described in Ramayana. And see the rush? Even prime time news channels were seen broadcasting news about NASA's report.

So in truth, the bridge had been constructed by some human beings (and not Deity) in the past. But as per Ramayana, the bridge was constructed with rocks which floated over sea water when the name of Rama was written over them. So it is hilarious to make stones float over water by this way.

And more than that even if they were able to make stones float over sea-water, how did they kept them confined to a single place as we all know that floating things tend to run away in different directions when a mild pressure is applied vertically over them, just forget about stepping over them because no embedded pillars were found in the vicinity. It's like simply like stepping over air balloons floating over sea-water.

And for those people who are fond of researching, I must suggest that this region of Indian Ocean has been proposed to belong to a larger stretch of inter-connecting islands belonging perhaps to the lost continent of Kumari Kandam or Mu or Lemuria.

Kumari Kandam

These islands start from Indian end of Kanyakumari & stretch up to Africa & Australia (I think!) joining India, Sri Lanka, Madagascar, Africa & even Australia under the sea level. This has been verified by Geological & Fossil evidences.

(11) Himalayan Herbs in Lanka: Now this is a very cheap excuse that can be verified simply by digging few feet below that area. Because if someone can join two different continental landmasses using an artificial bridge then those same people can bring Himalayan seeds and even Himalaya soil strata probably to reduce the distance they had to travel from Lemuria to Himalaya.

(12) Meaning of being a God: So what is actually meant by being a God? If we simply hide (or ignore) the super powers associated to this character of Rama in this story, we see him as a person with deep human weaknesses.

(A) He lacks trust in his own wife and even in himself because he could have moved to Lanka alone as he already knew about his super powers! If he can stay in meditative posture at a place for nine continuous days just to get the blessings of victory from some female goddess then we can easily assume that he could have done the same thing to get his wife back safely from the captivity of Ravana, without staking anyone's life.

(B) He asks Sita for the proof of chastity in front of whole warrior army which has to be a deeply insulting experience for any respectable woman & in the most general case; no woman could bear a moment to live with such man anymore after giving that test.

But we see that she goes to live with him, to be morally abused later in the story. Sita was herself considered as the avatar of Goddess Laxmi. And some years later, while in final semesters of her pregnancy, Sita was abandoned to die (not live) alone in the forest.

Rama surrendered himself to liquor to forget everything about his kingdom. And her wife gave birth to twin boys in the Ashram of Sage Valmiki. So we see that the same person, who wrote Ramayana, is himself present at the birth of Luv & Kush, Rama's sons.

Now it would be very cheat to believe the writer partially. One should either believe him completely or ignore him completely. But whenever the image of Rama, eating animal flesh & drinking liquor, arrives at the screen of Valmiki Ramayana, we see Hindus hiding their faces as if they will immediately run away if given a chance. We don't want to admit our weaknesses, just leave this question about admitting the weaknesses of our Deities.

My conclusion to this controversy is that the whole story is either completely fiction or it was written to indicate something else. I couldn't find any solid evidence to prove that Indian Sages were fond of writing fiction stories.

So, I'll opt for the second option and find evidences to prove that not just Ramayana but even the greatest epic of Mahabharata was a metaphorical story written to indicate something else but was mixed with plain fiction.

Oh! By the way! Did you notice the star mark displayed just before the topics? No! Just do it now & keep looking for the star marks before every topic to identify the riddles that have already been decrypted by me.

As impossible as all these riddles may appear to you, the simpler are the answer to all these riddles. So here are rest of the questions-

(13)*Polytheism: The whole world is more amazed at the number of Gods that are worshiped in Hinduism than the question of validity of rape by Hindu deities. Officially, there are nearly 330 million deities present to rule our life on this planet.

In Christianity, Islam & many other religions (Monotheism), where the whole religious scenario happily rotates around just one single avatar, we Hindus never get satisfied with just one picture of deity sitting on our head.

In every corner of India, enter any Hindu house & you'd be amazed by the number of religious photos & idols kept at the place of worship! Now if so many deities are actually working to keep India safe, then India should have been a Heaven on Earth. Then why the internal circumstances of India are never stable? Why India is becoming the Rape Capital of the world?

(14)*Rituals: Why Vedic Sages were forcing people for Fasting, Donating, Tree-worshipping & Vegetarianism, when they were already having surplus amount of food & natural resources available? Now this seems to be a reasonable question that should make you scratch your head. You're having huge amount of food in your refrigerator but you're not eating it, just for religious purpose! Amazing!

Though all systems of fasting exist in all religions but our Hindu calendar is fully packed with different occasions to fast, especially for Women. Hindus have been given full freedom to opt for fasting on any day. I too experimented with it & derived excellent results but that will be discussed in another chapter.

Another case arises for Vegetarianism! When we've read about our beloved God enjoying Non-veg food & not to forget about liquor, then why they were forcing us to avoid food & liquor attachments throughout the year?

You won't believe me if I say that the Hindus avoid even liquor on some special days that can be fixed by us at will. So all these terms just discussed above seem to a part of some greater plan that will be discussed later in this book!

(15)*Different avatars of Female Deities: Now this is just the point where I'll see your hand searching something on your head. Of all 330 million deities, only three Hindu Goddesses have been given prime importance that no Hindu will ever forget to worship.

Their names are Saraswati (Wife of Brahma), Laxmi (Wife of Vishnu) & Parvati (Wife of Shiva). Now there is another mystery. While Goddess Saraswati & Goddess Laxmi are said to have only one form, Goddess Parvati is said to have nine avatars.

Now this seems to be some sort of injustice to the former two. Why? Nobody seems to address this!

(16)*Appearance of God Trio: Just like Christianity, Hinduism seems to have a Trinity of Supreme Gods whose origin is unexplainable. Their names are Brahma (the Creator), Vishnu (the Operator) & Shiva (the Destroyer).

Brahma is shown to appear like an Aged Man who has a long white beard and is said to sit on a lotus. Brahma is said to create our world and all its varied forms of life. He is said to reside in Brahmalok.

Vishnu is shown as a deity colored in blue and is said to rest in some eternal water. He's responsible for the proper operation of every process & is proposed to incarnate on Earth as Kalki for the elimination of Evil.

Shiva is shown to wear a Tiger skin, wears a living Snake around his neck, holds a Trishul (Trident) and lives in a Crematorium, a place where Hindu dead bodies are burned on wooden pier after death. Now please pay attention to every detail or search further online for other details that have been told about these deities.

(17)*Castism: Now though this was a systematic propaganda adopted by corrupt Hindu priests few thousand years ago, and I won't allow anyone to blame present Brahmin families for anything that happened in India due to this system of Higher & Lower caste.

By the way, I too belong to a lower class, even I have few Brahmin friends who are dear to my heart and I've myself seen them dumping this evil system & sharing meal with me.

If all of Hindu followers originated from Brahma then literally all are equal and this evil system should be eliminated because what I'm going to teach you in this book, I'm sure you will never ever prefer to go with such system again.

Whether you're an Indian or an American who hates others in the name of Caste, Colour or Origin, this would be the last lesson you'll ever learn in your life.

(18)*Brahma-Saraswati case: Now this is where the whole system of Vedas gets insulted. Brahma used to have five heads initially. And Saraswati was said to be Brahma's daughter because he created her to share his load, when there was no one else in the whole Universe.

But when she grew up into a pretty blonde lady, the old man got so excited that he raped her. To punish Brahma for his evil deeds, Shiva cut off his fifth head. But the worst thing was that Saraswati later accepted Brahma as her husband.

Now how a deity could be forgiven just by this simple punishment? And why did Saraswati forgave him for such a heinous crime?

(19)*Mahadev-Ganesha case: According to original story, Parvati produced Ganesha from the dirt deposited on her body during penance. She ordered him not to allow anyone to enter the home and blessed him with divine powers for this purpose. As an obedient child, Ganesha stood at the outer gate of the residence while Parvati with her escorts was busy taking bath after several thousand years.

In the meantime, Shiva ordered every deity one-by-one to go and inform Parvati that he has finished his own penance and is about to return home. But Ganesha didn't know anyone, so he neither permitted anyone to enter, nor he entered himself into the house. Some deities even fought wars with him but were defeated.

That happened many times & every time Ganesha refused to permit anyone but informed everybody that her mother had ordered him to guard the door until she returns. This angered Shiva so terribly that he took his trident and cut his head off.

But in the meantime, Parvati returned to the door. When she came to know of everything, her own anger grew so terrible that every life form in every corner of the Universe was endangered because she is the deity who runs all life forms in all corners of Universe. Everyone tried to calm her but in vain.

The force of Trident was said to be so extreme that the head literally went missing somewhere on the Moon. But then someone suggested Shiva to replace the head with any animal that devas will see if they went into certain direction. So the Devas went into said direction and interacted a weak newborn elephant who was about to die.

The Devas took permission from the mother elephant and took the elephant's head to be joined with the Ganesha's body. The operation was done by Ashwini Kumaras who were the divine doctors. Ganesha was alive back again and was gifted with powers by various deities.

But as mystical as this story seems, one question does arises here that even after repeated requests of Ganesha that her own mother had ordered him to guard the door, why Shiva didn't wait? How can he cut his own son's head in the heat of anger?

If this can be done by a deity himself and remain justified then what possible chances remain for other Earthly beings?

(20)*Strange Anger of Sage Durwasa: He was a very angry person whom even Devas feared. He could curse anybody, living or non-living, with any curse that satiates his ego. Now Sages are not known to curse anyone in anger because the first stage of penance is self-control. Then why this particular sage is famous for his anger alone?

(21)*Krishna's Wives: Now don't take this example seriously. Krishna is worshipped in every Indian home. He had 108 wives officially. And his childhood love, Radha, was not among them. Then he came to know about Demon Narkasur who had abducted 16000 girls from various locations and kept them as sex slaves.

Krishna defeated him and freed the girls. The Girls requested him to kill them too because their relatives will not accept them as this will bring a bad name to the family. Krishna accepted all of them as his wife and took them to his home palace.

So should I raise a question of domestic violence here? Why Krishna didn't ask her previous wives before marrying these girls?

(22)Humorous Maths: Now I need a small break. So let's divert our mind into another question. It is mentioned in scriptures that Lord Krishna had 161080 children from his 16108 wives.

Now can you calculate how much time he indulged himself into sex? Let's do some easy maths here but stay awake because we have a lesson ahead.

It is said that Krishna lived for 100 years. So let's suppose that Krishna was 25 years old when he was married for first time.

So in 75 years, he had 161080 children

Then in 1 year he had $161080/75 = 2147$ (approx.) children

But in one year we've only 365 days and as per our calculation he had 2147 children per year. Now let us suppose that he had only 12 hours for sex while he used rest of his time in other tasks.

That means $2147/365 = 5.88$ (approx. 6 wives were satisfied).

Time allotted to one wife $= 12/6 = 2$ hrs.

Sex with 2147 wives took one year then 16108 wives will take $16108/2147 = 7.5$ years for next round of sex with same wife.

Why? As it isn't mentioned anywhere that any of his wives ever had multiple children in single delivery. So they were actually waiting for their next turn. Now though the character of Krishna was an avatar of Vishnu but his wives were not an incarnation of any deity so it's impossible for any (human) female to remain with her husband who would satisfy her sexual desires for just once in 7.5 years and that too just for 2 hours.

So did you get my point? This short math was done, not to expose the sexual side of Krishna, but to derive the metaphorical evidences hidden in the story. This proves that Vedic stories are bound to have metaphorical side.

And my dear Hindu friends, if this is what He can do after incarnating on Earth as a human being, think of moment if he decides to appear in his complete form to clear Earth from all evil.

And more than that, what about Shiva, who is a deity with the most destructive powers of the Universe but is happy with only two children. What could be the reason? Is he afraid of Parvati?

I could have included hundreds of questions and their solution to increase the number of editions of this series but that is not my intention. You can do further research and view more such questions in a beautiful book named "Riddles in Hinduism by Dr. B. R. Ambedkar". Just copy-paste above book name into Google and add an extension of pdf after it. The desired link will directly appear into the result page.

Now the face has changed. Hindus are now stuck in struggle with their own religious beliefs. And almost all the deities, whom they respected, have been found to enjoy Polygamy. King Dashrath had 350 wives.

And as per Valmiki Ramayana, Lord Rama also had more than one wife. Not to forget Krishna enjoying his lavish sexual life with 16108 wives. Should we request our Government to declare his home as a separate district?

Hindus, who were insulting & laughing at Muslims for their tradition of Polygamy, have found themselves surrounded with question that they can never face. But as we can see that all above questions require a Key, which must reside within these religious texts and should remain visibly-invisible. I can feel your curiosity level soaring high!

Decrypting Hinduism

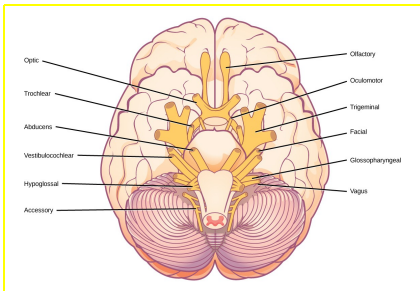

Hinduism had always been a Female oriented Religion. Read any incident from Vedic literature where Devas were struck into any situation and you will find that most of the time, at least one goddess appears to their rescue! So should we think that Male gods were falsely glorified? A similar situation resides with other religions where almost all of them are male oriented.

Now before moving further, I must thank Mr. Cullen Smith for his educational videos on YouTube channel named "Lifting The Veil". Recently, some of his videos on YouTube were intentionally removed by Google & forced him to move to Patreon, where presently he runs his own channel. I don't know how he got this knowledge, but in one of his videos, he showed me the origin of Ganesha.

Source: Lifting The Veil

This deity is honoured as the leader among the Hindu deities & is entitled to receive the gifts & fruits submitted by Hindu worshipers. And as pointed out by Mr. Cullen Smith, the portion of human body, where the brain is said to begin is also shaped like an elephant head, it is known as the Mid Brain.

Ventral View of Human Mid-Brain

You can also see the evidence by typing in search engine "Ventral view of Human Brain". This is how I got the direction to search further for possibility where similar coincidences may appear for other 330 million Hindu deities.

Though I could not find any other coincidence, but one thing is certain, Vedic sages were advising us to take our body as a Temple to be kept clean (but from what?). So this conclusion gives us the answer to our question regarding Polytheism that all 330 million deities of Hinduism are actually residing within human body only and one would require just deep curiosity to find them.

Now this cannot be considered as the Key that we require for unlocking all riddles hidden in Vedic texts. So I kept searching in the dark for answers until I hit my head directly on the biggest evidence. Now if you have read any Vedic literature, you will find that they always praised their Deities using certain specific words. Word like "Gajanan" is used for addressing Ganesha which means "Elephant Headed" that exactly fits the description.

But a similar word is used for addressing the Female Goddesses as well. Now that word is "Shakti Swaroopa" where Shakti means Energy and Swaroopa means Being. Thus, the combined meaning is "Being Energy". Now we have just discussed Ganesha being called as "Gajanan" for being Elephant Headed that seems appropriate.

But the pronoun/adjective used to address Female Deities didn't fit the scene until they were used for what they actually were! And yes, we got it right. They were directly addressing the Energy inside the human body as Female Goddesses. Energy is our visibly-invisible key. Now rest of the decoding literally became easier for me after this and the results have been mentioned below.

(1)*Origin of Trinity of Hindu Gods: Hindu priests have been depicting the Hindu trinity to be Eternal, without any origin. No Vedic text describes any detail about their whereabouts. But we know that whatever is said for thousands of years should prevail for some valid reason and will be revealed in the chapters to come.

But, for the time being, with our key we derive that the Human body has three God-centres with regard to movement of energy. They are Brahma (Creator of energy), Vishnu (Operator of Energy) & Shiva (Destroyer of Energy). So this directly validates the authenticity of our key that Energy is the main key to unlock all riddles of Vedic mythology.

So Brahma is the Creator of one's personal Universe, both internal & external. He gave Vedas, Ayurveda, Yoga & all similar arts to mankind. And one more thing to note here is that Brahma has been described as the writer of our destinies which directly correlates with the age-old proverb that says "You are what you eat!", hence your destiny is directly influenced by your food habits.

Similarly, Vishnu is the Operator and Shiva is the Destructor of one's universe. Please be aware that these derivations will be further validated in the chapters to come.

(2)*Proof of Derived Results: Brahma has been portrayed as an aged man with white beard. And we find that the place where the energy is created & absorbed into our body (universe) is the Navel region that has white colored intestines which appears like the beard of Brahma.

Brahma or Navel Centre

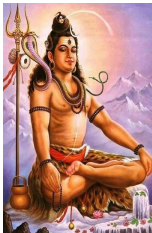

Similarly, Vishnu has been portrayed as a Blue colored being resting on one of his arm under the hood of Seven headed Snake in Vaikunth. Now the place where the energy is distributed in all parts of our body is Heart. The color of Deoxygenated Blood also resembles the blue color and the position of the Heart is also partly inclined to its side as if resting on its arm. And we've been shown that he is shown to reside inside water which strikingly resembles the 80% water content of the blood.

Vishnu aka Heart Centre

Last deity, Shiva has been portrayed as sitting in deep meditative posture in Kailash. With a snake wound around his neck, he is portrayed as the destroyer among God Trinity.

Now this Snake concept is used to depict the Spinal cord and also holds the path of Ascending Kundalini. And that means that anyone who conquers his Kundalini energy is referred as Shiva. But at present, Shiva is the destroyer of the Body aka Universe.

Shiva aka Mind Centre

Though you might be finding it little difficult to understand but as we move on you will have a clearer concept of its meaning.

(3)Brahma-Saraswati case: Now this peculiar question about rape of Saraswati by his own father Brahma was considered inhuman but as you go through the description below, you will find yourself struggling with your own opinion about the meaningful concept that Vedic Sages portrayed with this story.

Just after child birth, when the newborn lies just outside her mother's womb, the foetal cord still feeds the body. At this very moment, the newborn starts crying which represents the birth of Saraswati.

So Brahma (Navel) became the father of Saraswati (Voice) because according to Vedic science, your Brahma (Navel) is the creator of your Saraswati. Now when the mother feeds the child with her milk, the child stops crying depicting that Brahma raped her own daughter.

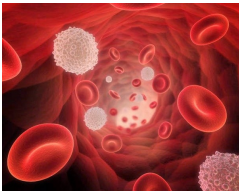

The foetal cord dries up to signify the cutting off of fifth head (fetal cord) by Shiva (destroyer). So do you still think it was inhuman? Oh! I heard someone saying "Interesting!"

(4)Vishnu: Recently we mentioned Heart as being portrayed as Vishnu. It was not just the color of blood that verifies our suspicion with reality; there are other factors too which support our theory.

See the shape of Chakra & Conch shell

And if you had ever read or seen the different components of our blood, you would be amazed to see that the shape of RBC & WBC resembles the shape of Sudarshan Chakra & Panchjanya Conch shell. "Woowao!"

RBC in Red & WBC in White Color

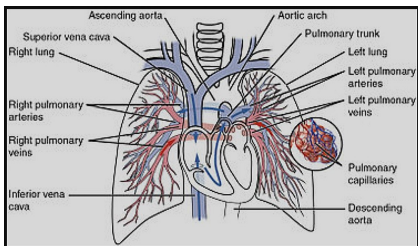

Ever wondered how they determined the shape & color of such tiny components without using any high power microscope?

(5)*Hanumana: He is considered as the greatest devotee of Ram, but he had some mysterious powers according to which he could vary his body size as per his will.

It can expand & shrink in size. That it directly verifies the religious image where we see Ram (Heart) hugging the Hanumana (Lungs). And as per human biology, the Heart is situated in between the Lungs as if hugging each other.

And more than this, the purpose of Hanumana's birth on Earth was said to help Rama in his incarnation and strikingly the sole-purpose of existence of Lungs in human body is also to help the heart in his job. As per scriptures, Hanumana won't die until he is blessed by Vishnu in his last incarnation. Now this is still a mystery that will be decoded in the chapters to come.

Source: Wikipedia

(6)Multiple Avatars of Vishnu: Now this wasn't so hard to decode as we all know that Heart has to perform multiple functions to support proper functioning of whole human body which strikingly correlates with the Maintainer (Operator) function of Vishnu (Heart).

As per Vedic texts, Vishnu incarnated seven times on Earth. And more amazing is the fact that even Heart participates in seven systems of human body viz Circulatory, Respiratory, Digestive, Excretory, Nervous, Endocrine & Immune system.

Out of which Ram was the avatar of Heart for Circulatory System and Krishna was the avatar of Heart for the Excretory System. The validity of the last results will be verified in the coming examples.

(7)Eighth Avatar mystery: Now this is what the whole Hindu community has been waiting for last few thousand years. But the question here arises as to what is that function of Heart for which the whole Universe (our body) had been waiting from time immemorial? Just a few pages before, I discussed about Hanumana staying on Earth until Vishnu's last avatar, Kalki.

I reserve my right to keep it secret at least in this chapter because the function of this system is not physical but actually meta-physical.

(8)Mahadev-Ganesha case: This has already been discussed before. But one thing that remains untold here was that in the picture of Ganesha, the length of Left tusk is kept shorter than the Right one.

This again has relation to the Kundalini nadis (subtle energy channels) concept, which perhaps means that this portion of the brain gets super-activated when Kundalini ascends through the Right (Pingala) channel because if the Left channel is shown as broken then Kundalini will perhaps ascend through the other way that is still accessible. Or may be that Kundalini ascends only through one channel.

Lord Ganesha

For your information, the Mid-brain area, depicted as Ganesha & marked as the entrance to the brain, is responsible for the control of Visual & Auditory functions of the Eyes & Ears respectively. When this portion of the brain gets energized, the person gets psychic powers popularly known Clairvoyance (power of distant seeing) & Clairaudience (power of distant hearing).

To get a better understanding of the brain areas and this concept, just type "Function of Mid-brain" & enjoy the feeling of looking at Elephant's head & every description associated with it.

(9)*Vedic Goddesses: We have read earlier about Goddess Saraswati accepting Brahma as her husband, but there is one thing still not discussed. The Vedic Sages have represented the energy of an organ as its wife in all Vedic literature. For example, the energy of the Navel (Brahma) has been represented as Saraswati, who is herself shown as a Goddess, wearing a White sari, who plays a Veena (a musical instrument) which literally means that the power of human voice resides in proper functioning of this area of body which is where energy enters the subtle channels.

Goddess Saraswati (Wife of Brahma)

Saraswati is also represented as Goddess of Creation thus everything that is created or repaired inside the body gets its energy to do that from here. And interestingly, if you fast for few days continuously then the first property that is reduced is your voice.

Similarly, this energy of creation is then transferred to blood and now it is known as the energy of blood aka Laxmi (Wife of Vishnu) who is the goddess of wealth. Now in terms of inner universe, she is the one who is responsible for the prosperity of inner cosmos.

Goddess Laxmi (Wife of Vishnu)

She accompanies her husband, Vishnu, in every incarnation (systems of body discussed before). The color of her Sari represents her residence in human body i.e. blood.

Similarly, Goddess Parvati is the wife (energy) of the Shiva (destroyer of Energy) and accompanies him in the purpose. That means there is a purpose behind everything that destroys the stability of your inner cosmos & that purpose was created by you. This derivation directly correlates with the Law of Sowing & Reaping. Hence, as I said earlier, you are writing your own Destiny with your own habits, be it food habits or anything that you consider as yours.

And one more important thing to note here is that the three Goddesses have some definite forms like Saraswati appears in form of Creation/Synthesis only, Laxmi appears in form of Nurturer/Maintainer only but Parvati appears in nine different forms for Destruction.

And incidentally, we too have nine different forms of energy. So you got my point that those nine forms are direct representation of the nine forms of energy that we know about! They are Thermal, Electrical, Magnetic, Sound, Light, Potential, Kinetic, Chemical & Nuclear energy.

Nine Avatars of Goddess Parvati

I've actually not correlated the different forms of energy with the different avatars of Parvati. But one thing is certain; Parvati (wife of Shiva) is responsible for the destruction of energy in nine different ways that we just saw!

Hence, human body can produce other forms of energy as well, but we generally know about Thermal, Chemical,

Electrical, Magnetic, Sound, Potential and Kinetic only and don't have any information about Light and Nuclear energy.

(10)*Origin of Old Tradition: One thing to observe here is that the energy is coming to the organ via blood and becomes the energy of that organ. And in no case its opposite case, i.e. the organ going in search of energy, is ever seen.

And this phenomenon strikingly coincides with the global tradition followed in marriage where the bride leaves her home & goes to groom's home to be known as his wife. So you see our ancestors had such a deep knowledge and adopted it their real life as well.

(11)*Worshipping Virgins: Now there is an old festival in India known as Navratra that is celebrated for nine days just before Dushehra (Day of Victory of Rama) when Hindus fast for nine days and resist all temptations during that period.

On the ninth day, the fasting person organizes a small religious ceremony at home and arranges for delicious food for Virgin girls to obtain their blessings.

Now this tradition directly resonates with our inner world where the energy once used by an organ is never used by any other organ hence every organ is hoping for the virgin energy to arrive at the destination for blessing it with energy.

(12)*Strange anger of Sage Durwasa: Now we have seen all the characters from the Vedic mythology but one thing still remains. It hides in a simple question! What would the Hormones, in our body, be doing when not in use? Answer - Meditating. Hence all those Sages, who were shown to meditate, were actually Hormones of our inner cosmos.

One particular example, we discussed earlier, will literally clear your confusion about this. The name of that Vedic character was Sage Durwasa. He was so famous for his Anger that even Devas used to fear him, but he was a devotee of Shiva.

From this description one can easily identify that Vedic Sages were actually talking about Adrenaline hormone that is produced in the Brain and due its intensity even Devas (Elements present in body) feared him.

(13)*Kamadev, Kuber & Sage Narada: The first name belongs to the deity associated with the power of eroticism & sex. Just like Cupid from western culture, he is shown to have a bow & arrow. This particular example represents the fact that Vedic Sages respected even sexual feeling as a deity, provided they are immersed in purity & innocence.

Kamadeva is depicted as the son of Vishnu. Kamadeva was shown to have power even to disrupt the penance of the highest sages, but he feared Shiva because he was a dweller of crematorium and destroyer of energy. Do you know what it means?

Kamadeva (Erotic feelings) is born from Vishnu (Heart). Why? You know it! And Kamadeva fearing Shiva signifies that Shiva has the power to kill such feelings too! But being the son of Vishnu has another significance for which you must know what Maya is? Stay tuned!

Kamadeva Source: Wikipedia

Similarly, Kuber was a deity who owned all the wealth of Heaven so one can fairly identify that this character was used to represent the Fat present in human body. And if you notice, the deity is also shown as a fat man.

Kubera

While Sage Narada was son of Brahma and a core devotee of Vishnu and had a habit of repeatedly reciting "Narayan! Narayan!" which was the other name of Vishnu and that indicates that your Mann goes directly where your Heart orders him to go. One thing to note here is that he is not shown to have any wife but carries a small musical instrument on his shoulder and the repeated reciting the name of Vishnu has deeper significance.

Sage Narada Source: Wikipedia

As we recently decrypted that Hormones were denoted as Sages, so in this case we observe that he is none other than your own "Mann" or your inner self, who desires everything but never attaches anything to itself.

At one moment he likes one thing but the very next moment he hates the same thing. The information regarding him being the son of Brahma indicates that your food habits give power to your Mann.

So if you are fond of different kinds of foods, then you are bound to have a wild Mann. This can be verified by the food habits of all those monks and sages who remain bound to same food and that too in small quantity.

They never complain even if the food on any day is not eatable or if they miss their meal on any day which directly indicates the amount of wildness remaining in their Mann.

Similarly, repeatedly reciting the name of Vishnu signifies that your food habits affect your Mann to influence your Heart directly. So that old saying is again verified that goes "You are what you eat!"

And there was another proverb that was used by Old ladies of a home to advise the new bride that said "The path to your Husband's heart goes through his Abdomen".

(14)*Shukracharya & Brehaspati: Both names belong to Sages from Vedic literature. The first name belongs to the Guru (or Teacher) of Asuras (Demons) which definitely must be of Testosterone. According to Vedic literature, this guru guides them through all tough phases of struggle with Devas.

As he is a Guru, he is ought to prescribe the right path to Demons but often fails to do that. This directly relates to the wild nature of the testosterone in human body which is ought to select good path to loyal sex but often fails due to its cheap character.

Now as I'm not from a medical background, I could not find the hormone which was represented by Sage Brehaspati, the Guru of Devas. It can be a hormone that is perhaps secreted by Pineal gland and induces Intuition & Wisdom in Human mind and strives to keep its beholder on correct path.

(15)*War between Devas & Demons: Now this endless fight has been repeatedly shown in all Vedic mythology stories. So if all Devas are the beneficial elements present in the body and Demons are sexual feelings, they are directly insisting that these feelings have the power to exploit & manipulate the power of the beneficial elements present in your body & they desire to conquer The Heaven i.e. Your Mind (Not Brain).

Another thing to note here is that they have given an identity to all your feeling. Be it Erotic (Kamadeva), Anger (Durwasa) or Mann (Narada). And that Sage Narada (Mann) has been shown to play politics between Devas & Demons but remains a Sage if the struggle gets worse, which is the direct representation of your Mann which keeps swinging between Good & Evil feelings.

(16)Case of 64 Yoginis: This peculiar term represents 64 virgin deities who were friends of Parvati, wife (energy) of Shiva (Mind). But first I must clear the meaning of this term to you.

When we add two numbers then we write it as $A+B=C$ where A & B are Addends while C is the Sum. But in Hindi (& perhaps in Sanskrit also), this C is called as Yog. Perhaps you've got the origin of the word Yoga by now!

In Hindi, we use some words like "Oont" for Male Camel and "Oontni" for Female Camel. And you can fairly understand when I say "Hathi" & if it means Male Elephant then what would be the word for Female Elephant? Yes! It is "Hathini". So this suffix "-ni" hints at some female form of that organism. But here we're speaking about energy so it must also be some female energy only.

In Indian consensus, the people who could combine their Heart & Mind into single point were known as Yogi and by the term Yogini, I presume that Vedic Sages were hinting about some unknown energy which is a combination of different types of energies aka the one who Sums up. And that also not just one but total 64.

General definition is that a lady, who practices penance like a Yogi, is known as Yogini. But in whole Vedic literature, each female character has been mostly used to represent a special energy while Mind (Shiva) & other organs has been allotted a male character, so I suspect this to be some energy only that is still unknown to our scientists. So when trained to concentrate at one point, human mind acts as Modem for Super-conscious information.

One example, of such energy, can be taken from the life of Dr. Thomas Galen Hieronymus who invented the equipment for detection & manipulation of Eloptic energy used in Radionics. He holds the US patent no.2482773 for that device.

This particular energy, as the inventor said, had the properties of both Electrical & Optical energy. And also that all living matters emit this form of energy and modern equipment could not detect it. Strange enough, the modern science is still much behind our ancestors as can be seen here.

We've a long way to go because today we cannot even add two simple energies & they were talking about 64 energy variants which were a combination of two or possibly more different forms of energy, some of which can be still unknown to us.

Also, in chapter named Initial Homework, I talked about John Brown, who created the immortal B-cell. He also confirmed that the cell emitted mysterious rays of some kind which can be taken as one of these energies and he too said that modern equipment cannot detect it.

But when taken in terms of Vedic philosophy, this may mean that the mother energy of all known energies (we discussed before) could be comprised of 64 different types of energies and also that human mind has the power to generate, manipulate and control these energies.

So it directly represents the powers that might be sleeping in remaining 90% part of human brain. This particular concept has greater significance in Occult science of Indian Subcontinent.

These 64 virgin females have been known to evoke super human capabilities just by proper recitation of specified mantra for prefixed times at prescribed time.

As is confirmed from the Indian philosophy, Yoga is the preparatory part of Kundalini awakening, while 64 Yogini concept (Tantra Yoga) depicts the Post-awakening part of Kundalini. But as these deities have been described as virgin, hence it represents that these energies cannot be owned or controlled by any physical organ present in human body. Oh! Man! I still have a very long journey to complete!

(17) Multiple avatars of Vedic Goddesses: No, I couldn't decrypt it at all! And this is still a strange question to me. In Vedic literature, a particular goddess is sometimes shown to evolve into multiple avatars at a single time but at different places!

At that very moment, the original goddess was smiling & sitting intact! This is direct violation of Conservation of Energy rule. We're still much behind our Ancestors! And our Science still has a long way to go, beyond the Conservation of Energy rule.

Now up to here, it was a nice learning experience but it doesn't prove that the Ramayana & Mahabharata are metaphorical in true nature. So I would take verifiable examples from these two greatest epics of Indian mythology that will confirm my argument about the metaphorical nature of Vedic literature.

For people who don't know anything about Metaphor, so it is a figure of speech in which a word or phrase, literally denoting one kind of object or idea, is used in place of another to represent something else.

Please keep this in your mind that I'm not from any Medical Profession to verify these examples exactly. And again as you read this, just appreciate the detail with which the Vedic Sages had crafted the whole science in plain fiction! Enjoy!

(18)*Ram's Exile & Sita' Abduction: This example has been taken from Ramayana. Newly-wed Ram (Blood) and Sita (Energy of Blood) were exiled from Ayodhya.

Sita was abducted from Forest (Cavity of Lungs) meaning that the place of abduction was in midst of forest aka Lung's Alveoli. Sita was taken on Pushpak vimana via Air route (Pulmonary Vein/Aorta).

Jatayu was a Mystical Bird (Black colored) in Ramayana that was seen neither before nor after that moment in the whole Vedic literature.

Painting by Raja Ravi Verma Source: Wikipedia.

So actually, Jatayu (Carbon portion of RBC) is slayed by Ravana in that route only. Ravana (Penis) had his own wife (Erectile energy) so Sita was kept as captive at different location in a park under a tree (Scrotum/Testes).

Ravana was described as having Brahmin Father & Demoness Mother that should have some hidden meaning just like the fact that Ravana used to hide his Prana in his Belly that may indicate that the power of your sexual feelings are also affected by your eating habits.

Ram (Blood) asks Hanumana (Lungs) and his army of Monkey warriors (Alveoli or Oxygen) for help. Now we all know that, out of four, only two chambers on one side of the heart are involved for pushing the blood into the arteries and this can be visually verified from the Ramayana picture where Hanumana (Lungs) takes Rama & Laxmana to Lanka sitting on his shoulders.

Hanumana carrying Ram & Laxman on his shoulders.

Now here comes the greatest disclosure about Ram Setu or Adam's Bridge. The Vedic Sages knew that when oxygenated blood enters the Scrotum, it creates a long string of air bubbles inside the artery that goes into it, which appears like a floating bridge.

And as this whole structure is being created in the middle of blood, hence Lord Rama was credited for the creation of bridge.

Sita is rescued by Rama (Blood) & Hanumana (Lungs) from Scrotum. Sita is now considered Impure and is asked to give Fire test which is directly verified by the fact that the blood returning from Scrotum has to pass through Solar Plexus region.

Sita has now proven her Chastity which indicates that the blood returning from that area doesn't has any symptoms of being used by that organ.

Fire Test of Sita

Ram now has to stop Bharath (Ram's second younger brother) from Self-immolation which is verified by the fact that if the vein returning from lower regions is blocked by any means, then the blood from one of the Heart's chambers will flow down to Solar Plexus area. So now Hanumana (Gaseous portion of the RBC) reaches before Rama to stop Bharath.

In another picture, Hanumana is shown to tear his chest to show the picture of Rama & Sita in his body that displays his devotion. But this particular picture directly denotes the theory that the Gaseous part of Oxygen envelopes the whole outer surface of RBC and it's not the RBC that attaches to the oxygen molecule.

Hanumana tearing his chest

Now it's time to explore some verifiable examples from the other epic fiction of Indian Mythology, i.e. Mahabharata.

*Bheem - (Thumb) - He was the most powerful,

*Arjun - (Index) - He was an Expert Archer,

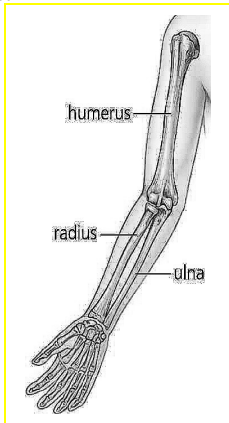

*Yudhisthira - (Middle) – As this is considered as the finger of Saturn in Palmistry, so he's Impartial but has cheap character of Gambling.

*Nakul - (Ring) - It is the finger of Sun, so he was handsome & had patience.

*Sehdev - (Small) - It is the finger of Mercury, so he was a good speaker & had electrifying personality.

(20)*Pandava origin: Kunti (Mother of Pandavas) was the co-wife of King Pandu (Elbow) which definitely correlates with two bones of human forearm (Radius & Ulna). Kunti was mother of three sons (fingers) while Maadri (other wife) was mother of two sons (fingers).

King Pandu died of a curse from a Sage Kindama (unknown hormone) that said he would die if he ever had sex. But, during exile, Pandu forgot about the curse & had sex (fused) with Maadri (Ulna) & consequently died. Maadri (Ulna) also performed Sati (Self-Immolation i.e. lost its separate individual identity) as she considered herself responsible for her husband's death.

So the five children (fingers) were brought up by the remaining bone of the wrist. Now this can be verified from the diagrams of human anatomy that all five fingers are more attached & move in coordination with Radius bone only.

In addition to this, see that the first three fingers are more attached to the Radius bone while the remaining two are attached to the Ulna bone. This is in direct correlation with the story where it is mentioned that the first three pandavas were born from Kunti (Radius) and the last two pandavas were born from Maadri (Ulna).

But as Maadri (Ulna) committed Sati so the fingers are more attached to the Kunti (Radius) and do what she orders.

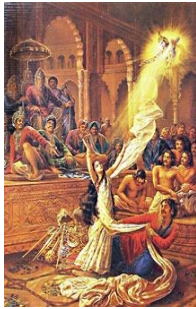

(21)*Pandavas used to dine together and the food used to be served by Draupadi. She used to divide whole food into two halves. One half was given to Bheem (Thumb) while the remaining half was divided equally among the remaining members.

So logically you can verify it yourself by holding your food morsel between fingers and observe carefully the amount of surface-area of food touched by each finger.

(22)Great Gambling & Draupadi's Forced Disrobing: Now this is a famous incident from Mahabharata which involves the role of Krishna.

The Pandavas (Fingers) were gambling with Duryodhana (Stomach/Hunger) in the court (mouth cavity) of Hastinapur. It literally means that whenever one is extremely hungry, he/she is seen to struggle with his/her empty stomach, with hands.

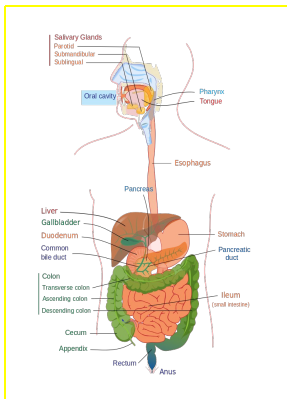

Yudhistira loses all his brothers one-by-one & then himself to Duryodhana (Stomach/Hunger). Then in another bet of gambling Yudhistira loses Draupadi (Food) to Duryodhana (Stomach/Hunger) also.

Draupadi being disrobed by Dushasana
Source: Wikipedia.

Duryodhana (Stomach/Hunger) now declares the Draupadi (Food) a slave. And asks his younger brother Dushasana(Tongue) to bring Draupadi (Food) down. Dushasana (Tongue) drags Draupadi (Food) by the Hair (Outer most body part) into the Court (Mouth cavity).

Court (Small Intestine/Digestive system) was rejoicing (Chewing sounds) with Liquor (Digestive Juices). Duryodhana (Stomach) says Dushasan (Salivary juices) to make Draupadi sit on his lap (Duodenum). But Draupadi (Food) doesn't stop there but slips down the lap (Duodenum).

Source: Wikipedia

Now Dushasana (Salivary juices) is ordered to disrobe the Draupadi (Food). Draupadi is insulted by removing layer by layer of her sari. Pandavas (Fingers) are helpless (facing down). All Kauravas were rejoicing with (digestive) sounds and liquor (digestive juices).

Bheeshm (Old Unmarried Bearded man in top left/Large Intestine/Green) & Dhritarashtra (Blind King in throne/Rectum/Dark Green) are silent & ashamed. Unmarried means that it doesn't store any energy there. Blindness represents the pore-less nature of Rectum and being married means that the Rectum has its own energy. But before completion of disrobing, Draupadi(Food) is covered (absorbed) by Krishna (Blood).

The Dushasana (Salivary juices) continues to disrobe but finally gives up. In the meantime, Gandhari (Queen mother/Energy of Rectum) counsels Dhritarashtra (Blind King/Rectum) to intervene in the matter.

Dhritarashtra (Blind King/Rectum) returns Draupadi (Digested Food as Excreta) to Pandavas (Fingers) with Honour.

Note-Kauravas could have raped (use) her, but they couldn't which means the energy of food is enveloped by the blood before being used by the Digestive organs.

So! How was that?

(23)*Birth & Virginity of Draupadi: This folklore is another best example. According to Vedic literature, Draupadi (Food) was never born but appeared out of Yagya (ceremonial fire) with her younger brother Drishtdharmna (Steam). The Yagya was performed by King of Panchaal.

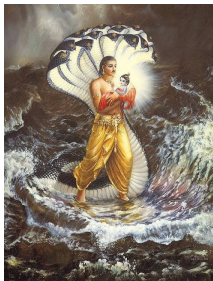

According to another folklore, Draupadi (Food) was blessed by a Sage that she would retain her virginity after sex just by having bath. So friends, the human excreta that we dispose as waste returns to us just by having bath, literally, thus retaining its virginity. And having sex represents being used by internal organs.

So they have given the reason why they say that food is never born but retains its virginity (unusedness) by divine bath only. And as I said, every female character in Vedic philosophy has been used to denote some energy then what is a food actually? You decide!

(24)*Draupadi's Swayamwara: Pandavas (Fingers) won Draupadi (Food) in a tough competition and brought her to home. They told Kunti (mother of fingers-wrist) from the door. "See Mother! We have got something special today as alms?"

Kunti (without looking outside) ordered to divide (Draupadi-food) it evenly among all brothers and use it. So Draupadi weds with each Pandava one-by-one. Note: By this our Sages meant whatever be the size of food morsel but it is touched by each finger at least once.

(25)*Krishna's Birth: As per legends, Krishna was born to Devaki in prison and was shifted from Mathura to Vrindavan by Vasudeva, his father. Similarly, Human blood is also produced in the bone marrow, the soft fatty tissue inside bone cavities. The newly formed blood is then shifted to, I think, Lungs (depicted as a village in forest).

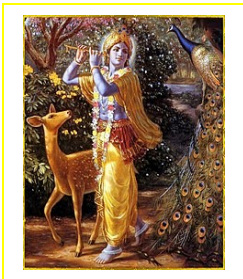

Did you notice the serpent Sheshnaga in the background? It depicts that this particular river, Yamuna, is located in the spinal region.

(26)Krishna: It would really surprise you to find that in one of his childhood photos, Krishna is shown to eat raw butter which directly says that the newly formed blood cells derive their energy from the bone marrow tissues.

(27)Krishna Childhood life: He used to take all cows, for grazing, from village into nearby forest. Similarly, the blood goes into lungs for re-energizing itself.

(28)Krishna marrying 16000 Girls: We talked about the 16108 wives of Krishna which seemed impossible but bet me, after reading this passage you will say that now it does seem possible. According to the story, Demon Narkasur (Kidney) abducted 16000 Girls (Water) for use as Sex slave. Krishna (Blood) defeated him & freed the girls (Water).

But the Girls said that they have already brought a bad name to their family, so they won't accept us. So, either kill us or marry us. So, Krishna (Blood) accepted them as his wives and brought them all to his palace with honour.

Now may I ask you one question please? Was the permission (from previous wives) to marry those Girls required by Krishna? That is why the Vedic Sages didn't mention anything about it! Neither was it mentioned that Narkasur raped any of them! So, they haven't mentioned anything that is not happening at all!

Summary: Now did you observe the precise detail with which the whole process was recreated in Epic drama using different characters & circumstances. Now many Non-hindu religious scholars will have to revise their view about Validity of Rape by Gods & other similar issues of Science in Vedas (as I read on some internet sites where they were actually deriving absurd sub-standard literal meaning without getting the actual truth).

Indian Sages considered anything as Female that gives Energy to Universe (both Interior & Exterior). Like Earth is referred as Female while all other planets are considered as Male because they emit energy which is received & absorbed by the Earth. Oh! By the way, they have represented even Knowledge as a female goddess. Why? Because, it is an information aka energy, that can change your inner universe.

But there were some questions which I couldn't decrypt like-

(Q)What was meant by the ten heads of Ravana? What does this represent?

(Q)In one folklore, Hanumana was shown to lift the whole mountain when he couldn't identify a herb named "Sanjeevni" growing on it. So what does this represent?

(Q)Just read any Vedic literature and you will find description of various deities riding on their personal vehicle like, Shiva-Ox, Durga-Lion, Ganesha-Mouse, Laxmi-Owl, Saraswati-Swan.

I couldn't decrypt it!

Conclusion: So my Hindu friends, would you still wait for your Kalki avatar now? Did you see how those corrupt priests, from post Vedic era, manipulated everything thousands of years ago, to force you worship fake deities that never existed.

Today it has become a habit of every Indian to ignore a beggar sitting at temple's door & donate a hefty amount to these corrupt priests. No! Don't take me wrong but this specifically applies only to those Pundits who keep sitting near the donation box, whole day!

Even I have Brahmin friends, who work hard all day and I respect them for the beauty of their Hearts. So Vedas were directly delivering us the sacred knowledge simply coded in the face of Ganesha!

Now I won't waste my time disclosing further messages encrypted in Vedas because we have got the key & it's "The Energy". Energy is the key to all Vedic riddles and Hinduism is not a religion at all! It's a Pure Science but intentionally coded.

Another thing that we have learned here is that the answer to every question related to your immediate outer world hides in your inner world. Now, there were two questions that we were facing in the end of previous chapter-

- (1) Why are there large variations between the two different versions of Ramayana?
- (2) Why these Sages were encoding all these scientific concepts into fiction stories?

The answer to first question is that the writers who were introducing huge variations into these stories were fully aware that these stories are pure fictions and they also knew about the purpose of their creation.

So brothers & sisters, please pay attention to your own religious books. They too might be hiding exotic knowledge in similar manner. You only need to have deep curiosity to decode them.

But why Vedic sages were asking people to respect & worship energy? This is another question that we'll answer in coming chapters & that is why I've got the key.

Now the answer to second question is that whenever there is a transition in Yuga cycle, there is a tremendous loss of information but folklore remains embedded in the memory of general population. And as we've learnt that out of 1180 sakhas (branches) of Vedas, only 7 sakhas are remembered today and remaining have been lost during transition?

Back to Work: Now, Christianity & Islam took few years to take complete shape while Hinduism doesn't seem to take same route. It seems like Vedic texts had been created in deep meditative state by a fully awakened mind as it requires a chunk of Eternal skill to hide Truth in plain fiction.

Vedas were claimed to be born from the story of Samundra Manthan (already decrypted by me). The same principle, I presume, should hold true for Bible & Quran as well.

Now there were some questions that remained unanswered-

(Q) Who is the Supreme creator- Brahm or Shakti?

(A) In my view, it is the Shakti (Energy).

(Q) Who is the Supreme Being? Shiva or Vishnu?

(A) Human body can survive with a dead Brain (Shiva) but not with a dead Heart (Vishnu), hence Vishnu is the Supreme Being.

Chapter 2.3

Islam & Christianity

Now we would examine the truth of Islam & Christianity.

But if we observe the face of Islam today, we see that it has become the most dreaded religion which I think even Prophet Mohammad never wished for.

But equally true is the fact that what is seen is only the surface wave of deep waters and the common Muslim in every corner of our world still works hard to live a decent life!

So what makes Islam a unique & peace loving religions in our world? No, I won't be talking about Allah, Mullah or Messiahs, but I would concentrate my view on Islam & its lowest follower's i.e. the Muslim population. Because till now we've already seen what was the reality that emerged out of the mystery of Ishwara!

If there is any Muslim friend reading this book and if he/she has read till this page continuously, I should warn him/her that just like Vedas, there are full possibilities that the verses of Quran must have been intentionally coded.

What was told to you may be completely different than what actually is? Because Vedas came before Bible & Quran and that too were coded in metaphorical language & if this can happen with Vedas, I don't think it won't happen with Bible & Quran!

And if you want to find the truth, you may have to start from the beginning only. To start, just copy-paste this "Falsehood in Islam" or "Contradictions in Quran" in Google & then read on, extract possible check points. The same advice stands true for Christian friends also as I too started with similar questions and ended up with the Key.

Why? Because I didn't took it literally as what was always told by these Hindu priests. Religious books all around the world have coded information & need to be decrypted, at least for survival? Yes! For our survival!

As you'll complete reading the series, you will come to the same conclusion! What you have read till now was not even the basics of what I have to say? It was just the disposing off the old baggage! Now it's your turn to check whether you are carrying a baggage of real or false hopes? Just having faith is not the right way and one should check whether these hopes have ever led to any miraculous results every time, because for one or even two time that might be just a coincidence.

I read somewhere that most of the teachings of Quran were directly taken from the Bible! So I won't waste my time gazing the cover of Holy Quran or Bible. But I leave it to you and we know that Hinduism is much older than these two religions & if it possessed such coded language than it's highly possible that the same or little different procedure must have been followed for the other holy books too!

Another thing to mention here is that both Christians & Muslims have been found to insult each other using verses from Quran & Bible, deriving absurd meaning as they did for Vedas.

Now when we all know that ethical teachings of Quran & Bible are nearly same then why this cheap & ugly fight is going on? Now I could have examined Quran also as it is available in English now but I don't want to waste my time by indulging in your disputes. It's up to you as to what should be your future? Living peacefully or Fighting horribly!

The first & foremost controversy that makes anyone suspect Bible is that whether Jesus claimed to be the son of God as these dudes are famous for reciting this particular statement in the whole book without giving any solid proof. Just Google "Jesus never claimed to be Son of God" & see for yourself.

Here is a complete list of other terms which can be searched & investigated. Just Google them and read on.

Jesus pre-30 period*

Jesus was not crucified*

Falsehood in Bible*

Contradictions or Inconsistencies in Bible*

There is a beautiful documentary on YouTube named "Jesus was a Buddhist monk" which is a must see for anyone who seeks truth and there can be many more! Now searching Quran & Bible will be on my list some other year (not today) as I have something more important to reveal. Now let's stop this stuff right here!

Now! If you search for the time duration from Adam to Jesus on Internet, it comes out to be 4000 years (60+ generations) as revealed by Isaac Newton himself and just in those 4000 yrs, God intervened a number of times in human lives.

But now more than 2000 years have already passed but God didn't care for humanity even when America was dropping its shit on Hiroshima & Nagasaki and when Rape became the most popular war crime in WW2. By the way, America already knew about the mayhem that it may cause as has been already disclosed that they had done 200 Nuclear tests.

So if He couldn't come at that moment then which tragic event you should expect when He would arrive to save humanity! On the other hand, you can well-imagine the scenario what might happen if FWW breaks out!! So do you still think God exists (& couldn't come because he was sitting in Toilet?)

My conclusion- Don't ever take your religious books Literally!! Be it Bible or Quran or Veda! They have been intentionally designed to portray metaphorical meaning. Only Fools eat whatever is thrown at their faces as the mercy of God. Now this knowledge just states that we're on right track but it doesn't complete our journey to search for the actual cause of our miseries.

Oh! I saw that Hindu friend return to chair. Welcome back friend! I guess he/she wants to search the Truth. Remember friends! Whatever you learn from this series, validate it from your personal logical experiences, recheck it and ask me such questions that even I'm confused & forced to verify again! At least! That will keep me stick to my chair! And may provide me a new path to search!

Adventure Begins

All Truth passes through three stages.
First, it is ridiculed. Second, it is violently opposed.
And Third, it is accepted as being self-evident.
Arthur Schopenhauer (1788-1860)

So friends, we were talking about the Law of Sowing & Reaping! And as we have seen that till now, Religion has no proof for any Avatar to arrive. And we are watching innocent people dying every day, due to the problems & situations which they never created.

But those religious dudes are still sitting ideally, repeating indefinitely about that Messiah stuff. And they are asking you to ignore what you see & take everything from your holy book literally! Now! Should you take your religious book literally?

Yes, if you haven't learned anything from past chapters! No, if you've learned something from previous chapters but want more proof! OK! For Yes group, there is no hope and as I said before, you're programmed to die helpless! But for the No group, I've something more to offer as proof.

Now what is the easiest point for which these religious dudes find it easy to manipulate your belief system?

The answer is Problems! And only your problems!

How? Because you don't want to acknowledge them and think that somebody else is responsible for them. It can range from anything that is happening inside your body to anything which is present in your world that you are living in.

But who is actually causing them? Now that won't be so easy to understand. So for that, we will again take a short review of problems in everybody's life.

Given below is the short categorized list-

Children: They are the real little gods who are being burdened to the highest level. Even before taking birth, Parents have begun loading them with their future wishes. They want them to be a born Genius. They want them to perform continuously at their highest potential from first day in the school to the last day of their life.

But friends, you cannot even ride your bike at its highest speed all the time while these children are living beings. Shouldn't they be given a chance to smile & live like a human being? Or should they be kept running like a robotic machine, perfect in every move?

There are topics that are always hot on our mental scenario regarding their future. They are Educational Pressure, Future Employment. Then there are others like Orphanage, Child Labour & Forced Begging from developing countries to Paedophilia from both developing & developed countries.

Youth: They are actually sandwiched between their own desires & their parent's dreams! The time they get to puberty, they are overloaded by their fear of lagging behind in competition. Then add to it the emotional pressure of immature love affairs.

Men: They are crushed beings. Few decades ago, this was the general notion that a Boy becomes a Man the day he gets a job but today's scenario is that the Boy becomes a Man the moment he starts observing his Father shaving his beard. Then the present & future problems start flooding his mind like Unemployment, Increasing cost of Living, Office Exploitation, Financial problems, etc.

Women: The problems faced by Men apply more or less same to Women also. Physical problems, Office Abuse, Sexual Exploitation, Domestic Violence, Sexual Dissatisfaction and Post-marital Affairs are the prominent ones. Then there are other problems like increasing cases of Divorce and specific problems like Forced Prostitution, Rape by Relatives.

Society & Nation: Deteriorating Health & Happiness, Cases of Kidnapping, Anti-social Elements, Hunger, Endless Struggle, Uncontrolled Population, Increasing Crime rate, Crime for Survival, Juvenile Crimes, Increasing Diseases (Mental disorders, Smartphone addiction & Suicide), Terrorism, Civil Unrest & Riots (Mob Lynching), Reducing Average Life Expectancy, etc.

Summary: You can search the Internet and Local & National Newspapers for further details but I'd rather roundup everything into following line. We are losing our Present every moment in our struggle for Future. Is it sufficient or needs further explanation?

Case of Muslims: I read a book on Prophet Mohammad by Karen Armstrong which gives exact details about the circumstances through which the Prophet has to go through. Now one question arises here that why did I selected that book to read?

The answer to this is that any Muslim who writes a book on his own religious idol is guaranteed to put too many words of appreciation and it would be too hard for that writer to provide an impartial view, which some readers, like me, seek! The writer of that book is a Christian & I respect her view on this topic.

Now following is the short passage of problems especially faced by Muslim community only. The whole community is divided into 200 different sects who don't want to see each other eye-to-eye.

Then there are increasing number of cases of atrocities on women, divorce, honour killing and polygamy. In most cases, they claim that they are following what is written in Quran, their holy book.

Then they are having deadly conflicts with other religions like Christianity, Sikhism & Hinduism. Now I must say here that this particular thing is common in every religion.

Other problems are Reducing Rainfall, Expanding Desert, Reducing Agricultural area due to bombing and recent case of Rohingya Muslims.

But one question that should arise here is that all Muslims have faith in Allah and never forget to worship him, then why are their problems increasing on a regular basis? If Islam begins from Quran then another question now arises is that, is Quran right? Now a book cannot be blamed for anything happening in our living world!

I read somewhere that the language of the Quran is so complex that every single line can have multiple meanings. Or in other words, just like Vedas, Quran may also be metaphorical in nature. But who cares? Who has got that much of free time to seek truth?

A book never asks you to do anything wrong! It should be the mistake of the reader who is deriving a wrong meaning from it. But everything bad that is happening in the lives of Muslims is claimed to arise from Quran! And that Holy book is said to have arisen from the mind of Prophet Mohammad! And then it was proclaimed as the word of Allah!

But what if Mohammad, himself, was deceived by some intelligent conspirator to take the whole Muslim community with him into a situation like the present scenario in Muslim countries!

Yes! You won't believe this! This is what actually happened to that innocent man who wished the well-being of his whole community but ended up there! Someone really tricked him! And, it's not Allah or God either! I've a logical proof!

So, now here I've three targets-

(1) To find the Culprit who is creating problems in our lives.

(2) To prove that there is No God or Allah. Oh! By the way! We have already seen the truth of Ishwara!

(3) Then find the answers to those questions which Religion & Science never dared to face.

And all the above tasks must have some valid proof! Now let me complete the list of problems that rest of our world is facing!

(1)American continent: Smaller countries like Venezuela, Mexico are facing deteriorating economies for last few decades leading to large emigration & worsening living conditions of local population.

(2)Middle-east: Iran, Yaman, Saudi Arabia. Same story is repeating itself here. Due to continuous wars between various sects of Islam, the area is witnessing problems that we've already discussed before.

Now as we've seen that almost all areas are populated by Muslim community, and more than that, almost all the areas are facing more or less same problems. Now this becomes an urgent situation for me to seek the validity of Quran & Allah. Or in other words, to find the answers to the questions mentioned before.

So we were talking about the Law of Sowing & Reaping before disclosing the truth of Ishwara & Vedas. Now! What actually is causing these problems in everyone's lives? And we assumed it like someone was throwing coconuts on us from some hidden place, and we were expecting some divine force to stop it!

Solution: To solve this riddle, we'll have to see after all what was sowed by us that is causing such a tragic harvest that nobody else can reap, other than us. To understand this, I'll take you into another subject that we call as Chemistry.

Let us take the example of Water kept in a wide beaker. Now we'll be observing its activity at molecular level. Then what we see is this 2D arrangement of Water molecules.

This is the Front Elevation view, meaning that we are viewing the 2D arrangement from the front side. For the sake of convenience, we've named them A₁, B₁, C₁, D₁, E₁, F₁, G₁ in first layer. Then A₂, B₂, C₂, D₂, E₂, F₂, G₂ in second layer and so on. And so we've recreated the 2D arrangement of Water as per shown in the image above.

Now suppose we've some high-tech laser technology that permits us to heat a particular molecule and suppose we are heating E₃ molecule. So, what will you observe? You will see that E₃ has started vibrating terribly. It is oscillating in every direction, striking everybody in its immediate neighbourhood.

Now this particular observation has a limitation. It depends upon the amount of heat energy poured in or in other words the amount of energy that is absorbed by that molecule.

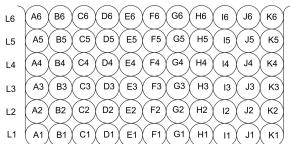

Once the molecule strikes any other molecule, its energy gets divided into two equal halves but none of the molecules will be able to return to its original stable level.

So, we observe that this is the current situation of our world in our immediate vicinity. Just replace the molecule with any human being, group, society, religion, nation or even continent.

The only difference between our world and that beaker is that in the experiment, the energy was being supplied from outside but in our world, that energy is absorbed by the molecule itself from its surroundings.

Do you remember our Vedic Key? It was Energy! But you'd be surprised if we view our present world scenario under the scope of Energy. Then this 2D arrangement becomes what is known as Ethereal Universe that works on the basis of Energy content of the Souls!

So our soul can be seen to sit where-there is a molecule and whose arrangement can be modified as seen in the modified image below.

And when a molecule E_3 , from third layer absorbs energy, it rises above its layer to become E_4 . It keeps vibrating at an intensity which is permissible for that specific energy level. When it strikes any molecule, only those molecules will be present there, which are in that level only (i.e. with subscript 4) and in that process, it will absorb more energy & thus rises to next level.

When E_4 becomes E_5 , its neighbouring molecules will change their appearance in proportion to its absorbed energy. This particular phenomenon of apparent appearance was referred as Maya by Vedic Sages. And the energy owned by the molecule was referred to as Energy Debt. This Maya will seem somewhat difficult for you at present but as we move further you'll get a better understanding of it.

One can easily imagine what will happen if only the top layer of Ethereal Universe begins to warm up to a terrible limit? Yes! Only those molecules will be affected whose energy content is exactly equal to that oscillating molecule.

Hence, in Ethereal Universe, all the Souls in one layer vibrate with same energy. So what conclusions did we make from this simple experiment?

(1) A Soul can strike the other Soul only if it is situated in its energy level. It makes a difference even if the difference is just one degree small. (Oh by the way, I don't know which parameter the Ethereal Universe uses to measure the energy debt. Degrees, Fahrenheit, Calories or Kelvin! It might be something that we still don't know anything about yet!)

(2) A Soul cannot strike another Soul which is below or above its energy level.

(3) A Soul cannot strike the other Soul with a force that is more than its own energy.

(4) There is a definite rate of energy transfer as we move from bottom towards top layer and but this rate of energy transfer increases rapidly towards the top layer.

(5) When a Soul strikes another Soul in Ethereal Universe, instead of division of energy, energy is released by the Victim Soul & absorbed by the Striker Soul. The Victim's energy debt gets reduced while the Striker's energy debt increases.

(6) Perhaps in the top layer, if there is no Soul present in the energy level of that Soul, then it will simply vaporize. But before vaporizing the Soul will vibrate at a very high rate to search for possible encounter.

Now view this last observation with reference to Final World War. This particular experiment explains what is happening between America & Russia, between India, Pakistan & China, between North & South Korea, between every Muslim country of this world fighting with each other, between Hindus, Muslims & Christians, between every soldier fighting at National & International borders, between two neighbours fighting for any reason, between a Criminal & its Victim, between two Tigers in the Jungle, between a Predator & its Prey.

The only difference between our World & the Ethereal Universe is that in previous experiment, we were feeding energy from outside but in Ethereal Universe, the Soul (ie Us) absorbs energy on its own from the surroundings. When E_3 absorbed energy to become E_4 & rose to next layer just above, then its neighbouring molecules also changed in appearance. So A_3 became A_4 , B_3 became B_4 and similar for others.

To get a better understanding of this concept, take example of a beggar. When that beggar didn't have anything, he was relaxed because he didn't have anything to lose. And suppose he got some clothes then he immediately started fearing for theft. Why?

Because those material things have increased his energy debt. Now suppose he further gets some currency notes fallen somewhere on the road. We can well imagine his mental scenario now! He'll start fearing more.

This particular concept is in direct resemblance with the energy concept discussed just before. Things are changing in proportion with the energy that is owned by the molecule. But everything around him remains as before. Why?

Because that Soul is not permitted to hold an energy that is more than its energy level. And the Soul starts vibrating at a rate which is in direct relation to its energy debt. As the Soul absorbs energy from its surroundings, its energy content increases and it rises in energy level. That is why Sages used to stay away from attachments & even public life to avoid any increase in their energy debt.

So did you find any God stuff responsible for this phenomenon? It's all Energy playing everywhere! Remember what Nikola Tesla said-

"If You want to Understand the Secrets of the Universe, Think In Terms of Energy, Frequency & Vibrations!"

And another important thing to observe here is that, at lower energy levels, molecules remain silent and resonate in synchronization with each other. More the energy, then more is the turbulence & finally more is the struggle.

This brings us to another important question that what is increasing our energy levels to such a higher content that it has caused our civilization to witness two world wars and there are tons of worst details that can be mentioned here!

I must tell you that we'd be using that Vedic key at many instances in our coming chapters!

Chapter 4

The Key & The ICT

That was a normal day, more than two years ago, in mid 2016. I had recently purchased my new Android phone and had free Wi-Fi access. Being a Hindu, now it was a normal habit that I searched the Internet for the images of Hindu Gods & Goddesses.

That was the time, when I had my first interaction with this special image, we all call as ICT or Inverted Cosmic Tree.

Inverted Cosmic Tree

The Image instantly captured my attention. But I ignored the curiosity and saved it in phone's memory. One year later, when I had left my job & was clearing waste files from phone's memory when this Image again crept up on screen & again captured my attention.

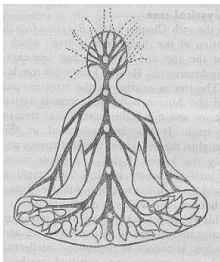

But this time, I had the time to satiate my curiosity. I searched the Internet for its origin & other details.

To my surprise, this image was, more or less, known to other religions as well. It is known as Tree of Life in Kaballah and Tree of Knowledge in Bible. But again to my surprise, its origin & messages were vastly confusing.

Even Lord Krishna had said "Anyone who fully understands it will be released from these painful cycles of birth & death". In Yogic philosophy, everyone was saying that it holds all the Knowledge of Vedas. Damn it! How can such a small image hold all the sacred knowledge of Vedas? But were they right?

If you search any site with information about Hindu philosophy, you will surely see this image. As per one site, they were saying that its branches denote this.....and its leaves denote that..... And all-that same Mullah lecture.

According to other site, it represents the Human life, that everything has its roots in one's mind. Partly right! But why they will draw such a big detailed picture for something that has already been explained in detail, as texts? Then I got a simplified image that can explain the same message. It has been taken from a book written by an Indian Sage Shri Saraswati. I'm sorry, I don't know his initial name!

ICT Alternative

Did you notice any difference? As I said why draw such a large detailed image when same message can be delivered in such a simple way. It was as if they were using an Ostrich to hatch a Chicken egg. So there is something hiding in that image!

Is it Mysterious?

Damn No! A minor observation will reveal that it simply denotes two things! First, A Tree. And second, A Deity. Oh! We've already witnessed the metaphorical nature of the Vedas, so everything must be taken symbolically (at least for once) and then searched further for its metaphorical meaning.

So, what does this Tree signifies symbolically?

Nature! Yes! When taken in broader sense, it cannot be anything other than Nature!

Similarly! What does a Deity signifies? Power! Perhaps!

Because it wasn't mentioned anywhere which Deity it was? So we'll take it as Power.

But as we've already seen that Vedas were hiding Scientific Knowledge in Fiction stories. And taking it as Power doesn't lead us anywhere! So we'll take it in its purest form. So it's Energy. And also in scientific terminology, Power is known as Energy.

So, what message this Image is trying to convey?

Energy? Nature? Energy & Nature?

Summing it literally! Energy in Nature!

Any question regarding this?

Nope!

Sure?

Yes!

So, it is asking us to observe the Energy in Nature.

But there is one problem here! Energy cannot be seen in stationary form! Because everything is Energy in Nature!

So, we'll have to make a minor correction here! Hence, it's asking us to observe the flow of Energy in Nature! So, where can you find the Energy that is actually flowing in Nature?

Now there is one compulsion for me ahead! I'll have to take only such evidences which can stand the crude tests of both Religion & Science! An Evidence which they can honestly accept as proof!

So, I searched and got such evidences, which I'll explain in coming chapters, that will simply make them speechless but at the same time provide us the answers that Humanity had been seeking for time immemorial!

And while doing so, we'll have to derive the laws which can be taken as Laws of Ethereal Universe and then verify them with valid proof! So, let's get back to our job! Enjoy learning!

There is one more thing in that image, there is another deity seen in standing posture in the middle. This particular deity holds some message that will be decrypted along the way.

So let's move!

1st Law & Its Applicability

I request you to please avoid all distractions because our main lesson session starts from here! Now as this is really a long chapter, some people may find it difficult to complete it in single sitting, so please read it some suitable device which can remember it where you left last time. Before going further, we have some questions that may cause you to scratch your head but actually have simpler explanation!

(A) If you've ever listened to any Bollywood Hindi song from Black & White movies and even some songs from Colour movies, you can actually feel the eternal rhythm which it exhibits! One such song is "Chalte Chalte Mujhe Koi Mil Gaya Tha" from a movie named "Pakeezah".

This song was sung by the Nightingale of India, Ms. Lata Mangeshkar. Almost all songs from this movie are good. Another song with similar effect is "Kitni Akeli Kitni Tanha" from a movie named "Talaash" & this too was sung by the same singer.

People all over India, irrespective of age, class, creed, status, language & religion love these songs from their Heart, especially at late night. Especially the second song, mentioned above, is highly addictive and once started you won't be able to stop enjoying it until you fall asleep.

It's as if someone is singing lullaby far-far away & you don't want to stop her! Play this song at bed time & then see the magic. It literally grounds your brainwaves to give you a peaceful sleep.

The magic resides in the rhythmic beats of music that resonates with your Heartbeats. And this rhythmic music of song & the innocence of singer's voice give it the magic of Eternity. There are many websites available where you can actually hear it online.

But better go for a site that gives you the untouched and unedited version. Just copy-paste the name into Google and add an extension of mp3. But the question here is this. What is the reason that gives these songs the taste of Eternity?

Indian musicians may explain this by saying that the songs were based on Vedic music. Partly true, but songs based on Vedic music are produced even today, but they are missing that feeling of Eternity so what could be the actual reason?

Listen to above songs and then think for yourself! I guarantee that you'll fall in love with Vedic songs from Indian movies and might start searching for more. But I repeat, search for the untouched & unedited versions only.

(B)As we've already discussed about it before, Ayurveda has become the latest grazing ground for these hungry MNC's. But there is another thing to worry about.

As the Industrialisation of this sector continues, just like Allopathic medicine, its efficiency is also guaranteed to reduce. Why? Are they ignoring something? These capital gurus have missed something from the texts through which they learned this knowledge. What it could be?

(C)Why Ayurveda doesn't contain any equivalent terms for Carbohydrate, Proteins, Vitamins and Minerals etc? The word Ayurveda is composed of two parts. One is "Ayur" meaning Age and the other is "Veda" meaning Science.

So it is the Science of Ages aka Longevity. But how can one live longer without including essential nutrients in his/her diet? May be, just like Vedas, this science was actually designed for something else and not just for healing!

(D)This has been already discussed before as to why Vedic Sages were forcing their concept of Fasting, Donating, Tree-worshipping & Vegetarianism on local population? Even if they were already having surplus supply of food grains then why did they do this?

This concept is so popular among Indian population that you can find almost every mature Indian fasting, donating, worshipping trees on specific days of every week, especially Ladies. Why?

(E)Why Vedic Sages discarded Non vegetarian food a few thousand years ago? As per Historians, this was done to counter the increasing effect of Buddhism. But in my view, Hinduism was manipulated by corrupt Pundits, and not by Vedic Sages, in recent times to include the rituals of Sacrifice.

These people were responsible for introduction of Caste & Dowry system, Untouchability, Sati, Child marriages and many more! But did Vedic Sages already knew about the ill effects of Non-vegetarian food & if not, then why did they discarded it equivocally?

In my view, the later generations of Brahmins, due to communication gap between previous generations, ignored & even forgot to absorb one special golden rule which their ancestors kept preserved as a tradition. What was it?

Fortunately, the present generation of Brahmins has improved its social behaviour a lot than before. But this Caste system still remains a major play card for the political leaders during elections only!

(F) If you've ever seen any Wild animals, in natural forest obviously, you will find that they never fill their stomach to the brim. Now Science may have its own explanation but why they don't ever do that?

Tigers, in group, can kill two or probably more animals at once and keep eating them alternatively. But what we see is that even if they have to remain hungry, they won't kill more than one at a time. Then give a rest period of few days for digesting & fasting. Why?

(G) Similarly, see any bird when it tries to build its nest. It flies to distant areas & roams everywhere but heck! It takes only one twig & then returns to its origin only to repeat everything again. Why it didn't take two or three twigs together to save the food energy? Or had it gone mad?

Many more questions still remain unmentioned and will be discussed along the journey. Take these questions to any Religious or Science Scholar and you will find yourself more confused than before. But the question once more stares us in the face as to why is it happening?

So! Here comes our first evidence! Modern Science recognizes it as Food Chain!

So what did you see? Nothing! Oh! I must remind you about our Vedic key. The Energy. See the energy flowing to derive the results!

This is a matter out of the reach of Religion now. We're witnessing a phenomenon which is beyond the explanation of Religion, and perhaps Science alike. Why? Because one thing you should note is that there is no Super-natural power present here!

No God! No Allah! No Kalki! No Fairies! No Angels! No Messiah! No Avatar! No Lucifer! No Satan! No Demons! And none of that Religious drama! Huffff!.....

(Sorry! All Ye God Stuff!)

So again what did you see? Still nothing! This is where the Kundalini pokes its devil's eye in the game because it modifies your mind to enable you dive deep into any topic.

And the biggest advantage is that you really don't need to go into any trance state but the information itself starts flowing into your head just like water. I know you may be finding it difficult to resolve so let me do it for you!

Now to make it easier to understand, we'll be designating Trees as the Source (from where the Energy enters our living world). So,

Trees = S-ones (Source),

Herbivorous organisms = H-ones

Carnivorous organisms = C-ones,

Humans = L-ones (L for Last).

Now though there is no human being shown in the image, but we all know that we're too involved there. So who is guiding this flow of energy through our living world? Oh! I know you're finding it difficult to observe anything here! So, the data derived by me is present below! Review the questions below!

Did you see that their-

- Difficulties are increasing?
- Age is reducing! (Except Humans! Explained later!)
- Peace & Harmony within same species is decreasing. Trees can live together for hundreds of years but as we move away from Source, the energy increases and hence, just like Water molecules, Peace & Harmony is reducing.
- In childhood, all newborns can be seen to live, sleep, play, eat or survive peacefully. But as the energy debt increases, this social behaviour of these organism changes. Fights are seen between two organisms only when they are mature but not in the early stages of life.

And the level of fight also changes with the debt. Small fights are seen among H-ones while deadly fights are seen among C-ones over domination, sex & survival. I won't comment on L-ones! You know it!

- Struggle for life is increasing.

These specific details can be easily verified in reality! Oh! My friends from Science background! Do you have any alternative explanation for this phenomenon? Nope! I know!

Vedic philosophy views this particular concept as Energy Debt which can be found in Vedic Astrology. But they just know it as Debt and not as Energy debt. And it can be explained as follows. As we move away from Source, the Energies add up as Debt at each & every step.

So for Source (Trees), it is E_T for the energy it has absorbed from surroundings (Sunlight, Water, Gases).

Similarly, for H-ones, it will be E_T from every tree, minus E_{L1} for Energy lost or spent for other tasks.

Thus, $E_H = E_T - E_{L1}$ (E_{L1} is the loss of energy as the H-ones tend to eat something from a large area & still pay less).

And for C-ones, $E_C = E_H - E_{L2}$

And for L-ones, $E_L = E_C - E_{L3}$

And by the way, in human civilization this E_L is reducing considerably. Now as per the law of conservation of energy, what goes in has to be equal to what comes out. So, this derives our first law of Ethereal Universe as

$$\text{INPUT} = \text{OUTPUT}$$

$$\text{or, } I/P = O/P$$

So as per our first law, every living organism, including Humans, has to pay whatever energy enters its body. And that is why the wild animals keep their energy debt as low as possible. Why? Because they know that they will have to pay for everything they use, even Oxygen.

So, how is that possible? How Universe can be so Scientific in its working? For this purpose we'll have to see few more subjects to make it easier to understand.

No. No. No! How is this phenomenon possible?

Aww! You're taking it as a pure coincidence. So let us take another example, so that you can understand that coincidences do not exist in Ethereal Universe.

So, here is another example, take the example of Wheat products (input energy increases while moving from left to right).

Whole Grain - Porridge - Fine Grained - Wheat Flour - Fine Wheat
Wheat	Porridge	Flour

So again, what did you observe? See it under the scope of Energy. As the Input of energy is increasing the food is becoming difficult to digest and at the same time it is losing its nutritional value.

So is it a coincidence? Damn No! For easier explanation you'll have to wait for few moments!

Now I request you to please review those questions, discussed in chapter's beginning, to find the possible answers. Here they are-

- (A) So, for answering the first question we'll have to see how those Songs were recorded? In that period, India didn't have that advanced recording studios so all the people, from Singer, Composer, Music Director to whole Orchestra, used to sit in the same big hall.

So if anyone, including the Singer, used to make any mistake, then the whole recording procedure was repeated. Just to avoid this, the Singers were trained so hard that they wouldn't make any mistake.

But as per Ethereal Energy Mechanics, this particular procedure excluded the circumstances of multiple procedures of post-recording editing thus making these old songs possess a low energy debt. When Indian people feel low in energy, usually at late night, they would easily get synchronized with the rhythms of the songs.

Now don't get stumped with this "Ethereal Energy Mechanics" as I could have named it Ethereal Physics but I realize that some people, who were actually studying Ethereal Physics, may get upset.

Why? Because even they know that the original thought about Ether was that it was a fluid that permeates everything but their own subject has nothing to deal with Ether moving in Biological arena. Ohh! I'm so Sorry! Next please!

(B & C) This particular question about Ayurveda will be explained later as there is more than one law acting here.

(D & E) Vedic sages studied everything from this particular image of food chain, hence they designed every aspect of Hinduism as a tool to reduce the energy debt that we have. Be it Fasting or Donating.

Now, Tree-worshipping is a different concept that will be discussed in later portion. And another question that is also pending was that why they were forcing Women to fast repeatedly?

But the question regarding Vegetarianism can be explained right here. As mentioned before, just observe which group is actually living happily? The H-ones, the C-ones or the L-ones? Though it's natural that, we Human, cannot live like S-ones because they can directly live on the raw materials available in Nature.

So, the answer would be the H-ones, so the Vedic Sages forced a Vegetarian life on whole Hindu community, religiously! Smart Na? Just attach everything with some religious deity and make them live happily!

(F & G) Now similar phenomenon can be seen among Tigers & Birds. And you can easily verify that the problems faced by each species are directly proportional to the amount of energy (and not the type of food) taken in by them.

So, they try to keep their stomach partially filled. And hunt only when they need it most and hibernate or take rest whenever possible. And even when they are awake, they are mostly seen to indulge in childish activities like jumping, playing, scratching their body, searching lice on other's body etc instead of running for food.

But one question may arise here! Why are they resisting excess input of energy? Read on! Up to here, we've learned just the basics of Ethereal Energy Mechanics (EEM) & still have much more to see! The remaining portion of my derivations will be discussed with or without any separate heading!

Please bear with me for this because this is totally an unknown subject and I don't want to waste my time searching and allotting a suitable heading for each observation or derivation, as we've just seen what happened with Ethereal Energy Mechanics? Arranging them in proper order only has already taken a huge amount of my time. So, here we go!

- (1) Now we've already discussed about the Law of Sowing & Reaping which includes the unmentioned involvement of Time i.e. the time at which an event is happening is actually synchronized with some past event.

Simply saying it means that anything that you're facing at this moment has a direct relation with some event from your past deed. But in terms of EEM or Ethereal Energy Mechanics, it will mean that the energy that had entered your universe at some past event is forcibly being drawn out in the form of present event.

So now our field expands little further, to include the Astrology as well. And what enters your universe shall be taken out forcefully at some point in the future, without your acknowledgement.

- (2) So summarizing everything, we devise some formulas to remember, *More-Processing=More-Input-Energy=More-Debt =More-Problems=More-Pain,
*Pain=Debit=Energy reducing,
*Pleasure=Credit=Energy increasing,
- (3) So now it's upon you, how you want to reduce that energy debt, willingly or forcibly. So that is why this concept of donating was emotionally attached with the Hindu rituals.
- (4) So now, do you remember why your Ancestors used to say
"Everything is happening for good",
"God is everywhere, in everything",
"You're What You Eat" &
"Everything around you was created by you".

So any painful event that is happening in your life is actually reducing your Debt and it was considered to be good. And from now on take note of the Energy debt that is being added to your Spiritual account!

- (5) Now as per Vedic philosophy, any deed that actually increases your Debt is a Sin and the one that reduces your Debt is Sacred. Verify it!
- (6) There is a complex situation where you might actually get stuck. Suppose some Dogs were chasing a Rat on the street and you rescued it. So on one hand, you've saved somebody's life so it is a sacred deed but on the other hand, you've devoid someone of food and forced them to remain hungry so it should be a Sin.

What would be your conclusion? Ask this particular question from your religious priest or read ahead for the answer!

- (7) Vedic philosophy has an important lesson where the Input energy is actually categorised into certain types of debts viz Earth, Water, Fire, Air & Ether.

And for your information, the bottom five chakras in human body are not just hypothetical concepts, but they are actually recording every type of energy that is entering your body.

Chakra	Sanskrit name	Element	Physical sense
Crown	Sahasra	Core	Intuition
Brow	Aagneya	Time	Sixth sense
Throat	Vishuddhi	Ether	Ears
Heart	Anahata	Air	Skin
Solar Plexus	Manipura	Fire	Eyes
Sacral	Svadhistan	Water	Tongue
Root	Mooladhar	Earth	Nose

If you've read anything in Basic Astrology, you will have certainly noticed that everything around us is actually related to some Planet, which is further related to some Element, as mentioned above. Details about these Debts will be separately discussed in a few moments! These details can be verified from the books on Yogic philosophy.

Data about the top two chakras may confuse you, but when you research for different Siddhis related to each chakra, you'll notice that some people have the power of foresightedness that enables them to see future events in advance. Nostradamus was one of them. This power is related to Sixth chakra which is connected with Time.

So what is the problem? Lower four chakras have the power to dominate the material elements but the Brow chakra directly dominates the time. This can be taken in reverse form that the Time is itself fluid in character but lighter than Air (Heart chakra) & Ether (Throat chakra).

You can easily change future events, if you know them in advance. But there is one condition attached! Every event happens to balance the debt taken by you sometime in the past. And even if you know what is going to happen in advance, you will not be able to change it, if it is actually happening to balance a past debt.

And now this Crown chakra is somewhat difficult to explain! And what is this Core? Now this can be understood using a question. What happens when you fall sleep? Which force controls your sub-conscious mind?

Researchers may argue that this part of your consciousness is unconsciously written by you. Then what is the use of Crown chakra?

In fact, this chakra reports your debt to the super smart intelligent part of the whole ethereal universe that I'm referring to as The Core. Even Nikola Tesla referred to it by saying-

"My brain is only a receiver. In the Universe there is a Core from which we obtain knowledge, strength and inspiration. I have not penetrated into the secrets of this core, but I know that it exists."

This is the same thing that our ancestors referred to as God, Allah, Brahm and similar other names but it doesn't have any religion. Later generations manipulated this knowledge that every problem is created by that Core while the truth was something else. So where does it exist? For this you will have to wait!

(8) Hence what you're attached to? What actually belongs to you & what you're simply faking as yours? What you actually treat as yours?

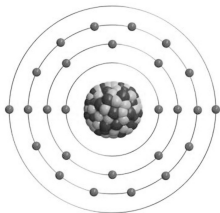

Even if something wrong is being done by a person in sleep-walk mode, it is actually getting recorded. And everything is actually getting recorded. But where?

(9) Here is a simple example. Have you ever noticed how much amount of energy was involved to make a piece of bread that you eat daily? It's not that this circuit simply starts from Wheat farms to Baking Industry to your Table.

Every Atom in the Bread possesses an amount of Debt that records all input energies which includes all the Fertilizer, Insecticides, Cutting, Threshing, Cleaning, Bringing it to Baking Unit, Type & Amount of Fuel burnt for baking & transportation between various locations, Human energy involved in the process, etc, etc. This is what the Atom actually records. Again! But where?

(10) But how can an atom record the energy given to it? And how is that happening? Answer-Have you ever observed the structure of atom accepted by science. In my view, the small gap between the Atom's nucleus & the first revolutionary axis of Electron is where the Atom keeps its memory of energy debt. Oh! I know it seems absurd at first. Why? Because you're not trained to digest anything until it is certified by those Scientists! And if you're so curious, just take this particular concept to your Science lecturer & ask him for explanation! You might see his face turn red & vapours coming out of his ears.

But take my word because it is easily digestible! Science is a Toad that is never allowed to see out of books!

What should be there between the nucleus & the first electron shell? Why the electron doesn't stop rotating & falls back into oppositely charged nucleus. But no! It won't. Why? Because every electron has energy and this energy doesn't permit it to stop.

Even the electron in the lowest sub-shell cannot do that! So there remains a space between the nucleus and the electron axis. The atomic structure itself is a much debated topic in the scientific community so just forget this theory about an atom having a memory somewhere between that small space.

But one thing is sure; the debt of energy is divided equally between all the atoms.

(11) This can be directly verified from the fact that life in rural areas is generally more peaceful than in urban areas. Think yourself now from the view of Ethereal Energy Mechanics between these two different scenarios.

(12) We've already discussed about three god centres in our body. And if you think that your Heart is just a pumping organ then think again. It is the keeper of all your memories & karma (deeds), good or bad!

Why? Because your Mind can become dead in coma but you're not considered dead until your Heart stops beating! Hence, your Navel (Brahma) reports the amount of all Input Energy Debts to your Heart (Vishnu) which signals your Mind (Shiva) to invite circumstances that can actually balance the Debt. Why? Because the Mind is the Destroyer or Balancer of Energy!

So your mind is not that much important but even then it is kept safe inside a bony structure. Why? As mentioned just above, that the Heart signals Mind to invite circumstances for balancing of energy debt, hence this indicates that as the debt varies from birth to death of any organism, the structure of brain changes accordingly and to counter this particular effect, it is kept safe inside a solid cavity. And more awesome is the fact that even after being so much important, the Heart isn't given any protection and just keeps hanging inside the chest.

(13) So what about a person who has recently undergone a Heart transplant? Dear Friend, the God-centres, I just talked about, are actually Meta-physical and not the physical organ that is located inside your body! I presume that they are located somewhere in the Auric body.

(14) Now here comes another tough lesson. I just mentioned above about the concept of Chakras as Check posts. Do you really believe that it is actually happening just because your Chakras are super-smart-small-spirals of energy, and they are actually recording everything? The answer is No. Why?

Do you know what Sages & Monks have been trying to do since time immemorial? They were trying to control their Chakra. But, as per our study, they cannot do it until they balance their energy debt and not before that. And why they avoid all kinds of attachments? And even food. So, the whole Yogic philosophy involves different types of exercises to control your senses, not your chakras. These chakras are actually energy spirals in fact, but the real work is done by the Input energy itself. Why?

Speaking scientifically, to induce any change, the Source of Energy must be at a higher potential than the Target. How? Because the Energies you see everywhere are actually ALIVE. It has a mind of its own. Oh! Now how can that be possible? Do you remember our Vedic lessons? The Vedic Sages were actually treating all energies as Living Goddesses. Why? Think again!

Got my point! They were not asking us just to respect it but actually treat them as living beings who should be used as minimum as possible. Why? Whenever the energy enters your body it disturbs the normal rotation of these energy spirals & thus get recorded.

The more the energy debt, the slower becomes chakra's rotation rate which results in changes in the structure of the Mind thus causing it to either adjust to the inner situation resulting in diseases or invite external detrimental circumstances to balance the debt related to that chakra!

And just due to this habit of repeatedly changing its shape, the brain is kept confined inside a skull but we all know that your Heart is more important than your Brain. So, why the Nature didn't gave it any shock protection? Now you know it! Boooom! Have a Break! Read again & digest it properly!

(15) It again gives us a valid clue that corresponds to the research by Russian scientists that DNA communicates at speeds faster than light. But with whom? So it may be taken otherwise that the DNA take orders from the Chakra about the energy debt and tries to adjust according to that. And further, the Chakras report to the God centres. One more thing to discuss here is that these three centres are superior to each chakra. Though Chakras may have superiority over Organs but all three God-centres work in coordination to keep these chakras in balance. And further these centres report to your Soul, and we know that a Soul is alive.

Soul > (Mind + Heart + Navel) Centre > Chakras > Organs > DNA
←-----Meta-physical-----→ ← Physical →

Now this physical portion is governed by Conscious Mind while this metaphysical portion is dominated by the Unconscious Mind about which we still don't have any knowledge about.

But one thing I must mention here that this whole concept of God-centres was so secretly encrypted in Vedic philosophy that even if you just go through all the scriptures of Hindu religion, you won't find any single page where this particular concept has been clearly explained.

And what you find is that the whole Yogic community kept chanting about meditation & mantras only. Even our language scholars could not decrypt it at all, that there can be something standing between your Chakras and your Soul, which is meta-physical in nature.

And if this was not true, just go through whole Vedic literature and see for yourself. All you'll see is the words of appreciation for the God Trinity and various Goddesses, glory of Devas & defeat of Demons, repeated infinitely.

(16) Now take example of a Criminal. Suppose that person, due to some accident, has forgotten everything from his past criminal life and now lives a normal life but does it means that his past deeds have been forgiven. You've got the answer! Now what will Heart do?

Very simple! It signals Mind to invite such circumstances in his life so that the energy debt can be balanced. And the Mind synchronizes with Time for that proper time of energy deduction, even if that time has to come in his next birth, as a human or not, but it will certainly come.

(17) And this is where the Destiny comes into picture. So by avoiding a particular type of food, let's say Non-veg food, you're actually reducing the debt that you are carrying from all your past lives. And this reduction rate can be further amplified by fasting and other Vedic rituals. No need to meditate or perform yogic asanas.

As we've seen in Vedic philosophy that the position of Brahma (Destiny Writer) strikingly coincides with the Navel centre so you're actually writing your own Destiny with your own hands, for which only you will be forced to pay.

This particular thing may disturb those of my Christians & Muslims friends, who seek some innocent animal to be sacrificed for their sins! And this is why the living condition in these countries is deteriorating at an alarming rate! That innocent animal knows it that what is being done to it will be repeated to the doer with full interest, and perhaps compound interest!

(18) And what about a Soldier who kills for his Nation? My answer- Who told him to take that job? He (no, actually his Mind) has chosen it for him! The same answer applies to the question we just discussed about Rat & Dogs.

If you didn't save the Rat that would mean that you don't have your Heart chakra open and your Heart will signal your Mind to invite circumstances which can open your Heart chakra, equally for everyone. But what about the Dogs? If you've spent so much time for saving the Rat that means you are not short of money! And you can actually get these Dogs something to eat!

Eh! Don't look at me like that? Even I've done such silly things! The Core is alive & tests its children before selecting him/her for awakening. Do you really think the Knowledge (that you're reading now) that no other Highest Sages could download from Akasha was freely showered on me (like flowers), so easily?

I had to remain Jobless for more than two years but when I recognized the signals that Universe was giving me, I kept my patience & maintained my human nature. Feeding hungry stray animals, taking care of injured ones even donating to needy people was part of my life and will remain so forever.

(19) Take my example again. I am an Indian & Indians should hate Pakistanis in the name of Nationalism and there isn't anything wrong with that. So what should be my stand on this particular issue?

My answer- A smart Kundalini aspirant knows that external circumstances always try to push impurities in your Heart chakra for many reasons. How? Do you remember the Vedic philosophy where they were treating inner feelings (Anger, Lust) like deities? Why? Think again!

Because your feelings are actually energies that are alive and can alter your Brain structure. And Sages recognized Attachments as external circumstances which evoke feelings. These attachments were collectively known as Maya. And further as they said that Maya is nothing but Illusion.

So whatever debt & feelings stays in your Heart, it takes the form of Maya to bring more impurities. If you have negative feelings in your Heart, Maya will attract more of negative circumstances. Why? Because the energy rotates in Spirals aka Cycles and thus gains stability. And the same rule applies to all feelings!

Attachment to your Motherland is also a form of that particular concept. And we also know that borders do not exist in Ethereal Universe. So literally my thinking is that I neither hate them nor love them. Why? Because the whole world is my home & every living soul is my relative. They also have a right to live just like others, but as per their deeds.

What about the incidents happening at India-Pakistan border? They are slitting throats of Indian Soldiers! My answer-By keeping hatred in my Heart, there is no guarantee that this will stop but there is at least one thing guaranteed to happen, that by doing so my Mind will invite external circumstances to balance those feelings of hatred. Why?

Just look at what were your actual feelings when you were born? And then we take Old age as Second Childhood! If this is not the state of your inner feeling when you die then you're bound to return to this World of Death. You ought to have a pure heart when you leave. I had similar feelings for Ghosts & Demons as well.

Whenever there was an eerie feeling working in the dark, I used to think that I know you've a right to exist but you don't have any right to disturb me like this. And the feeling vanished! This too has a hidden meaning that such Ghostly incidents are not purely coincidental aka they have been invited by your Mind.

So, whatever is happening around you is just an exchange of energy and if you are not involved in that process then why should you corrupt your feelings? Those Soldiers are doing their duty & to remain honest is my responsibility. Now this question about Life, Destiny & Death is still on my table and I'm researching on it!

(20)Vedic philosophy also considers it important that every living being is given a pre-counted number of breathing and see that the Heart chakra is directly related to the Air.

So by keeping negative feelings in your Heart, you're actually increasing debt in your Heart chakra which further reduces your count of breathing. Your chakras report to the god centres which further reports to the Soul, which contains additional information about the impurity in your different chakras.

(21)This particular example gives us the answer to another important question as to why was Religion invented? I had mentioned this particular question in the online description of the book too. So there is a saying in English that says "An Empty Mind is Devil's Workshop".

So there must be something to remain in your head even if you're outside, so let Faith remain there. As a Fake faith is better than Real evil intention!

People were advised not to respond to any external situation but keep faith in divine power just to keep their Heart chakra clear.

(22)Hence your five physical (eyes, ears, touch, taste, smell) & another five psychological (greed, attachment, lust, anger, irritation) senses, apart from the type of food habits, are prime factors responsible for evoking feelings, aka Maya, of any kind and that is why Sages were trained hard to control their senses first!

If the feelings were good, effects were guaranteed to be beneficial but if the feelings were not good then one cannot predict what circumstances the Mind can invite to balance the energies of those feelings?

(23) This brings us to a position as to what a closed chakra actually means? Now due to regular use, your chakras are prone to be overburdened by energy debt and hence they behave as if closed.

So imagine your chakras as clean transparent glasses stacked one above the other. And whenever the energy enters our body, these chakras record them, which affects their transparency.

The amount of debt at a particular chakra directly affects the function of organs controlled by that chakra. Higher the energy debt, slower is the rate of chakra rotation & faster is the aging process and corresponding circumstances & diseases.

(24) Now there has to be some relation between different Elements, Chakras & their Extreme Negative punishments. More relations can be found from subjects of Astrology, Radionics, Yogic philosophy, etc.

Chakra	Element	Related Functions	Extreme Debt Cases
Throat	Ether	Money, Voice	Dumb, Mute
Heart	Air	Respiratory & Circulatory system	Related diseases & events
Solar Plexus	Fire	Digestive system	Ego, Related diseases & events
Sacral	Water	Gender, Reproduction,	Psychological, Sexual diseases & events
Root	Earth	Teeth, Bones, Muscles	Structural deformities & related diseases & events

Above data can be easily verified from the fact that pain/disease related to Earth debt is persistent, pain/disease related to Water debt varies in accordance to the phases of Moon, pain/disease related to Fire debt starts & continues till the debt remains (like burning of coal) and as I said I'm sorry I don't have much information about this Air element.

(25) So if you've a habit of talking too much then beware you're bound to have financial problems, in your next birth, if not present.

Everything we speak gets registered in the Ether and returns to us in the future. And this is why Sages always prefer to remain silent.

(26) One thing to observe here is that your Sacral (2nd) chakra is directly responsible for your Gender so if you're fond of Raping innocent girls then in next birth, you are bound to be born as a female because your victim has transferred her water debt to your chakra and now you will have to pay it! Willingly (Prostitution) or Forcibly (Rape)!

This is currently happening in our world & some rape victims are still in their childhood. In this particular situation, the victim had high water debt and that is why the soul was born as a female. The debt resulted in Rape because the victim didn't reduce the water debt but kept on increasing it. This chakra is also related to the debt of water hence most psychological problems are also responsible for this debt.

One can also derive other extreme debt conditions related to each chakra and its responsible element.

(27) Various high energy products used by us:

Fossil fuels = Crude oil heated upto 500 degrees approx.

Vehicles = Iron & Steel (1500 degrees approx.)

Cement = 1500 degrees approx.

Smartphone = Silicon chips (more than 2000 degrees)

Wood = Explained later in this chapter

Paper = Guess why?

Cosmetic products = Again guess why?

(28) Now there must be some relation between the Energy debt & the Time. In my view, Time returns your deeds at the same astrological instance at which the deed was performed previously and you will have to wait if that event has to come in your next birth. This particular concept is in direct correlation with the Christian tradition of awaiting final judgement in grave, but sadly manipulated.

(29) So what if you start living like a Sage? This may be just a way! Detaching completely with all your belongings, friends, relations! But this is never required! Why?

Because even the Vedic Sages considered a settled family life as more rewarding than the life of a wandering monk. And, it is more difficult to remove those memories from your Heart. So even you can live like a Sage in your normal life and my focus will be on this particular life style only.

I have, until now, discussed this concept only in this book as to what causes you to deviate from the track of a Settled Sage towards the life of a distracted person, running behind illusions.

(30)Importance of Heart Chakra: Till now we have seen that whole God centre concept rotates around the central one i.e. Heart centre. Why they gave so much importance to this centre & chakra?

Because this centre and chakra lies in the middle of Kundalini track and is also the last one in terms of material attachments i.e. Air. So any impurity in this centre & chakra will prohibit the rise of Kundalini energy to higher chakras.

Whenever Kundalini tries to ascend above this chakra, it simultaneously generates a repulsive force we call as Maya that has the power of all lower chakra's attachments and forces the beholder to surrender to external emotional circumstances that are brought with the ascension. This is nothing but the opening of Heart chakra that has forced the Kundalini to rise above.

And if you have read carefully, each of lower chakras are attached to one psychological senses and when the aspirant does not responds to any of these senses then the time has come for the real awakening. Prophet Mohammad succumbed this opposite force of Maya which will be discussed sometime later.

So a Kundalini aspirant must keep atleast Heart free from any impurity or debt.

(31)Earth Debt: As this debt increases, the beholder bears pain in structural formations of body i.e. Bones, Teeth, and Muscles. If it continues to increase, the person will encounter accidents involving wounds on body like vehicles accidents leading to fracture. If it increases further, then we see the most unexpected circumstances in anyone's life is the removal of body parts.

(32)This particular phenomenon of increasing debt has to work in correlation with Time. If the debt is very high, then the Time will create an event when the whole body is crushed immediately in an accident, leading to eventual death.

But if the debt is less and the Beholder is a nice person at Heart then the Debt is equally divided into a number of events, like persistent pain in body due to an old injury.

And if the debt is more, then this may result in diseases related to that chakra and persists until the debt is high. If the debt gets reduced, then it might result in complete miraculous healing.

Another important thing to note is that a single event might be responsible for the deduction of more than one debt. Like Rape & subsequent murder, where the first is associated with Sacral chakra and the second might be associated with Root chakra.

(33)Water Debt: As this debt increases, the beholder is seen to go in Stressful situations. As it increases more, the symptoms turn into depression, then psychological problems, then madness.

(34)Fire Debt: This particular debt is responsible for the Biological Sleep Cycle of an organism. As the debt keeps on increasing, the feeling of drowsiness increases.

Hence, all those feelings of heaviness, laziness & tiredness are direct symptoms of increased fire debt. And interestingly, a child is seen to be highly active in early years but as this debt increases, the corresponding results are seen.

And you can directly correlate this with the hibernation phenomenon found in Pandas and other species. Pandas control their food intake by hibernating. Some species keep their alternate brain hemispheres awake to reduce the energy required thereby further reducing the food intake.

(35)Air Debt: Please bear with me as this is a mysterious element for me and I don't have that much detailed knowledge about it. As this debt increases, diseases related to Heart & Lungs are seen to occur.

(36)Human Energy Barometer: If credit has an effect on a Sage's body then debit should also be visible? So how would you decide how much debt remains on you? A debt can be directly correlated with the various conditions of your body living being.

When the combined debt rises upto your Navel centre, it affects you physically. When the combined debt rises upto your Heart centre, it starts affecting you emotionally. When the combined debt rises upto your Third centre ie Mind, it affects you mentally.

This specific example corresponds with human life as well. When you are a child, all that worries you are food & play only. When you grow into a mature being, all that worries are food & emotional stress only. But when you grow up into an adolescent, all that worries you are food, emotional and mental stress.

By combined debt it means when more than one chakras are contributing to the debt. Some peculiar cases may also be seen in debt related to specific chakras. A combined effect is usually seen in case of past life debt.

We've have already discussed about the Vedic concept of pre-counted breaths and this particular phenomenon connects us to the expected life span of the individual. If the person has pure heart, this would result in increased life span which will ultimately result in division of present debt into smaller divisions, thus providing the Time sufficient opportunity for its deduction.

And one may note that there is a suitable distance between the lower chakras and the third god centre i.e. the Mind. If any of the debt crosses its limit to reach the third god centre, then the latter will invite special circumstances for its immediate deduction i.e. death.

This rising combined debt affects upper chakras too. For example, when the Water debt rises upto Solar Plexus, then the person will experience reduction in the alertness & physical activity of the body, which usually happens in old age.

Similarly, when Earth debt rises up to Sacral chakra, the individual will experience problems such as Kidney stones. More correlations can be derived easily.

(37) Vedic philosophy describes a peculiar proverb that can explain the reason for the present condition of our world. It says

And this can also be taken in reverse form that if one is eating thrice a day then that person is directly inviting diseases into his/her life and same for other cases.

I utilized this particular concept to reduce the emotional stress in my life that is brought by the Kundalini. We'll have more on this somewhere down the journey.

(38) One question may arise here that if the debt is carried forward to next birth then why children are so active? They should look tired and lazy. Yes! It is a valid question? And probably I might fail to explain the exact theory here! But I'll have to go through it!

So according to it, there are seven keys (chakras) & three levers (God-centres) to open a single lock that guards the door to Heaven. As you keep doing Good karma, each key begins to move freely due to clearing of past debts thus empowering the God-centre and paving the way for the ascension of Kundalini.

Please bear with me as the mere mention of this Heaven word doesn't mean that God exists! But I'm referring to the Core. Oh! I know it seems totally immature and Nature has far more sophisticated methods to trick human beings but with this theory I was just trying to represent the debt borne by every human being. I don't know how this debt information is conveyed to the God-centres to be carried to next incarnation.

But one thing is certain here, there are fixed destiny-debt-time-lines running in our living world. And when this chakra debt increases above its permitted value, corresponding detrimental circumstances are seen to result.

So when you fail to pay your past life debt, your Mind selects a suitable time-line (destiny) for its proper payment. Now this time-line doesn't affects your present physical body directly until the debt is too high to be deducted forcibly and that is why most of the children stay active.

(39) Ageless yogi of Dr Rajendra Prasad: This particular instance has been mentioned in the autobiography of Dr. Rajendra Prasad, India's First President. I read about it in a book "Living With Himalayan Masters" by Swami Rama.

In it, Dr. Prasad talked about Sage Devraha Baba who was nearly aged when he was himself a teenager and now when he is in his seventies and had retired from politics as a President that Sage still doesn't seem to develop any effects related to aging. He presumed him to be something about 150 years old.

It was as if Time has stopped touching him. Now we can well imagine what that Sage must be doing to keep Time at halt!

(40)Vegetarianism & Key to Immortality: Now this particular question has stressed mankind from time unknown. They have been seen researching continuously for developing Ambrosia or Divine nectar. And today Genetic researchers are struggling continuously for the key of aging hidden in genes.

And even if they find it, chances are rare that it would be provided to the general population so easily. So why I'm talking about it right here? Have you observed the food chain carefully? Who has the longest life span? Trees obviously! Why?

In terms of energy, they are surviving directly on natural raw materials but giving more than the input! So this is why Vedic sages wanted us to have a vegetarian life aided by a fasting & donating rituals because it stands next to Trees in the food chain diagram.

(41)Brain size & Intelligence: This topic about the relation between the size of Brain & its IQ had always been a hot debate among various scholars.

One research points to increase in intelligence due to consumption of a specific food while other points towards just the opposite case that the Intelligence has no relation with the type of food. An average human brain size ranges about 1350cc in volume and contains about 100 billion neurons.

Then how does the IQ of one person is different from the other? This question can be answered by the Ethereal Energy Mechanics that when debt decreases, your brain cells starts reconnecting and one's mind power starts increasing. This is only a theory and I cannot guarantee the results. But yes, it can be easily tested personally.

(42)Now this particular point will seem absurd to some people. Have you ever observed that people who reside in multi-storey buildings are prone to some special types of problems?

So what is actually required when you live in a multi-storey building? First is Electricity for running Lifts! And next? Second is Water. So what? Have you ever imagine, how much debt is loaded on your chakras for this?

This debt is sufficient to make you Financially weak (for Electricity-Throat chakra) & Emotionally drained (for Water-Sacral chakra)! Observe carefully! Most people residing there will have this common characteristic trait.

And as the time passes, they are prone to physical diseases specially related to these chakras.

(43)Correlation between Increasing Debt & Quality of Life: Almost all the people who live in adverse conditions of life in any corner of the world belong to this special group whose Past life debt is still unpaid and this particular condition haunts them continuously in the form of Destiny.

For example, just take the example of fossil fuels and suppose their prices increases by 10%. And it is not a distant dream in most parts of our world. But what this may mean is different for different classes.

For rich people, it is just a small breeze of wind. For medium class, it becomes a wind storm. And for poor people, it becomes a hurricane laden with dust & lightening. What should be the reason can now be fairly understood?

This past life debt becomes your destiny in the present which only you will have to pay. As the debt keeps on increasing, your struggle in life keeps increasing in direct ratio in the form of internal & external problems of all types. We have similar lessons down the road!

(44)Efficiency of Given Therapy: We've already talked about Ayurveda becoming a fresh harvesting ground these days and possible reasons for its failure in near future.

So which therapy should you opt for treatment? You can simply opt for any therapy that involves a minimum debt.

(45)Healing by Auto-suggestion: We've already discussed about the relation between Debt & Mind power. This particular ability enables our body to heal on its own without using anything from outside.

In my own case, due to Kundalini, I used to have very short duration of acute pain in different parts of body at different intervals. But you won't believe that for past 15 years or so, I never had any type of persistent pain in any part of my body. This is the indication of a reduced debt. How? I had dumped Non-veg food nearly 20 year ago, in my teenage life.

(46)Comparison with Previous Generations: Now if we compare the debt owned by our ancestors, we see a sharp reduction in the troubles faced by them. Most of the food eaten was grown within the village.

The animals, used to transport the material, were fed for the work they completed so there was nearly no debt regarding transportation. People usually worked within the city. So the rate of increase in debt was rather extremely slow.

And this debt was forcibly deducted as problems during Yuga transition time only. Why? Because, the people used to have pure heart, that indicated their long life span. So the rate of mortality was less, as the debt was low.

Life style of Indian people was just one step more advanced. Whole population of India used to have just two vegetarian meals per day and that is prevalent in rural areas even today. And add to this, the tradition of fasting & donating as a religious practice.

And by the way, India had a barter system, instead of currency system, in Vedic era. Currency was first introduced by Mughals. Now some people may question about the invasion by British rulers & its aftermath! Yes, but that happened due to something else, and not due to pending debts. So, can you calculate how much debt was involved at that time?

But see now, everything we use is produced at some distant place and mostly transported on vehicles that run on fossil fuel. So this increases our Fire debt to a very high extent, thus reducing our confidence & power to self-heal and for past few thousand years we've never cared for this first law at all.

Hence, it's natural for time to deduct the debt in a cruel manner, and we're facing a very high mortality rate even when there is no Yuga transition going on now. And you can well imagine what face Time would show us when there is a real transition in progress?

So this whole phenomenon of Diseases, Unemployment, Recession, Inflation, Crime etc were all invited by us due to our past life debts. We'll have a separate section on measures for reducing this debt in effective manner, without any need to go to any Church or Mosque or Temple.

And remember, this is just the first law, and we've few others that are also as simple & efficient as this but have power to change the world.

(47)We've already discussed about the Kundalini & Heart chakra. And if you observe carefully, Print & Broadcasting media are all involved in spreading feelings of Anger, Fear & Hatred in the name of Nationalism, Religion & Terrorism. Why? You decide!

(48)Advice to Women: We all know that the Soul has no gender. But what determines the gender of a person at birth is decided by the debt carried by Sacral chakra.

We've already discussed about the relation between Sacral chakra (which records Water debt) & Gender and if you observe carefully most of the problems that are faced by today's women are also fluid in nature i.e. they fluctuate with different phases of moon and are directly related to Sacral chakra.

Even if we take Rape & Sexual offenses against Women as extreme situations of this water debt, then also we see that most of you are stressed by that chakra only, be it monthly periods, emotional weaknesses, sexual dissatisfaction, mental or marital stress almost everything.

All of these start with a single chakra that doesn't care which God you are worshipping or which food you're fond of eating. All it records is the amount of Water used by you! How? Women are the first & the last to use the water most, mostly to wash away all those cosmetic creams that you use daily as make-ups.

When the water is purified, it increases the energy debt on every molecule. The type of debt carried further depends upon the type of method used for purification. If it is Electricity, then it relates to the Ether debt.

And these chakras have debt records from your past life too. And all such heinous crimes of sexual violence occur when the permitted limit for that person is exceeded. Now we've few more things to see here!

In India & may be some other developing countries too, a new form of Sexual violence has been seen to increase, in which the victim is raped and then subsequently murdered ruthlessly.

Now as cruel as these incidents may seem but the truth is that different debts are working in coordination with each other and are deducted simultaneously.

Women will have to be very careful regarding the wastage of water in any form to avoid such incidents.

(49) Now in Vedic philosophy, it is mentioned that there are three Granthis or Knots present in the path of ascending Kundalini. I don't have any knowledge regarding this that what I'm discussing here and what they were talking about are the same or different!

(50) Difference between Chakra & God-centre: Yes! Science has progressed to such an extent that they can balance the function of Chakras just by using waves of different frequencies.

But dear friend, here we're dealing with some intelligent system of energy that has the ability to stick to your soul from one incarnation to next one and Chakras here seems like an inferior entity to them. And I don't think these dudes will ever find a way to crack this code. Why?

Because these God-centres, as already discussed, are metaphysical in nature which science may never be able to find. And our so called Advanced Science could not move a step beyond ATP and is still struggling very hard to find the visible existence of Chakras.

But we now know that it is not the actual form of energy that operates the God-centres. And even if, somehow, they find them & try to manipulate them, it would simply increase the debt and finally it will be a loser's stroke. Why?

Just because we still have few more lessons to study the behaviour of energy. Stay tuned!

(51) Importance of Saturn: So the whole scenario rotates around the central God centre or the Heart. Now the question arises that how this God centre manages to reduce the debt? To answer this question we'll have to observe several factors.

First, this is where our Soul is said to reside. And that means, it also has our past life debts in record. Second, in Astrology, there is a planet named "Saturn" that is said to keep record of our every deed or Karma and returns them to bless or punish us. Now in Astrology, Saturn is represented by Metal, Coal, Gambling and low status people.

But if you give a minor observation then we see that it is also present in our blood as Iron. So, I presume that, this Organic Iron interacts directly with the Heart centre and while passing through a particular channel it changes its the structure of water crystals to cause a change in the receiver organ to bring disease or discomfort. I might be wrong at this particular theory.

This theory particularly resonates with the results of experimental research done by Dr. Masaru Emoto in Japan(perhaps) in which he use to photograph the shape of Ice crystals exposed to different frequencies of sounds & lights. In one particular step, he claimed to purify the polluted water from a source using some Religious prayers.

(52) Trees: A few paragraphs before, I mentioned the Wood in the list of high energy products. Why? To understand this, look at the Food chain again. Which living being is suffering the most? Yes, it's Trees again.

Next suppose there is a volcanic explosion on a mountain, covered with trees, and all people & living organisms run to safer places. But only Trees are not permitted to do so? Why? We know that everything in nature is alive & nothing is vain. Then why are Trees facing such strict punishment?

Because, these are the souls, from previous time-lines, with very high energy debt. And this gives us the answer to another question! Why Hindus were forced to worship trees as deities? Why they were not allowed to cut trees? And why Trees keep standing even when someone is cutting them?

If you look closely at food chain again, then the next living being to suffer most is Us i.e. Human beings. And the Trees, who're being cut now, have already paid a huge amount of debt in their life by growing Fruits and bearing its own weight & harsh weather conditions and facing the naughtiness of wild animals like monkeys & deadly attack of termites.

So now they will be born as humans. Such is the accuracy of Nature on metaphysical level. This gives us another hint! So Trees are living beings then why they do not have any chakras? We can take it in another form. What will happen if we keep loading our chakras with material debt? You've got the answer! We won't be able to reduce them if it increases beyond some unknown limit.

There are two things happening right now on massive scale. One is the Deforestation and the other is the Population Explosion. Don't you understand now why is it happening?

And suppose Time decides to destroy whole Earth altogether. Then when a new dimension will be created, we can understand very well now as to who will be born as Trees? And why?

Because the Nature will create the Food first and then the Eater. And even if we keep cutting Trees like today, we can very well assume that the soul will be born as a Human being with high energy debt who will keep disturbing other innocent people.

This same thing holds true in the case of Terrorists, Gangsters and Criminals. These are the people who were paying for their debts in their past life as Trees but are now born as a human being. And they are still vibrating with high energy and disturbing only those who stand in their level of energy.

(53)Paper: Can you guess why a mere piece of paper can have a large amount of debt? Take for example, Fruits. Why Fruits are considered as low debt? But on the other hand, a paper from a tree is considered as a high energy product?

By the way, there is one thing important to mention here! Even the Vedic Sages never used any paper but tried to remember everything verbally as can be seen among the Brahmin community today. Why?

Because it involves the cutting of a tree! Consuming a fruit doesn't takes away the life of tree. The Tree just pays its debt by its fruits. So what? Just shift your attention to the food chain again! What was happening when a tiger hunted a deer? Its debt was transferred to the predator! Which debt?

Present life debt, from birth to that moment! And we've already talked about Trees as being the most severely punished souls so when you cut a tree, its present life debt will now shift to your account. But its past life debt will remain as it was!

If it was a fruit bearing tree then it implies that it had already paid some of its past life debt. Hence it will be born as a human being, perhaps as a gangster, and disturb us.

(54)Symbolic meaning of Inverted Cosmic Tree: See the image again, what is visible? Still didn't get my point! Just replace the image with any soul and then see your Karma as its extremities.

If you continue to add Bad (Down=Adding Debt) Karma to your Spiritual account then you will end up as a Tree but if you keep adding Good (Up=Reducing Debt) Karma and purify your chakras then you will end up as a Deity, perhaps in the Heaven. Now this real meaning & location of Heaven & Hell will discussed later.

And we also had an additional meaning of the Deity that stands in the middle of the tree trunk. That Deity represents the ascending Kundalini phase when your brain cells starts reconnecting thus awaking sleeping areas and now you are the master of your Destiny and can take it in either direction, to Heaven or to Hell.

(55)Importance of Human Incarnation: Now this may seem disturbing to most religious heads who think that some God had created mankind. Ok! But for what? So, God created Human in its own image & freed him to devour everything that is visible. Is that so?

We've seen that these religious stories have metaphorical meaning. And story of creation of Adam & Eve must also have some hidden meaning. May be later on we'll have time to return to this story of Adam & Eve.

In the meantime, Vedic philosophy says that there are 8.4 million different species on our Earth and before being born as a human, we've already completed a very long & tough journey through that wild world. And see what we're doing now? Wasting our time in selfies, running for adventures, having fun, consuming everything, living or non-living!

But if you see that food chain carefully, we've gone through that wild world by staying hungry & thirsty, bearing hot summer & frozen winters just to reduce our debt and nothing else!

And what we see now is that we're increasing our debt at an unprecedented rate and blaming some fictitious God for our problems. So this means being born as a human being is our last chance to escape this cycle of birth & death.

If this debt continues to increase just like this, then our last incarnation would be in the form of Trees, who do not have any rights even to save themselves from hot summer, frozen winters or flooding rains.

And then you'll not be permitted even to sit down when tired and just forget about adopting any means to save yourself from the termite attack & wild forest fire. Verify it!

(56) Now suppose a person tries to reduce his/her debt then what will happen? We can understand this by using our diagram of Ethereal Universe we used before. See it again!

L6	A6	B6	C6	D6	E6	F6	G6	H6	I6	J6	K6
L5	A5	B5	C5	D5	E5	F5	G5	H5	I5	J5	K5
L4	A4	B4	C4	D4	E4	F4	G4	H4	I4	J4	K4
L3	A3	B3	C3	D3	E3	F3	G3	H3	I3	J3	K3
L2	A2	B2	C2	D2	E2	F2	G2	H2	I2	J2	K2
L1	A1	B1	C1	D1	E1	F1	G1	H1	I1	J1	K1

So suppose a soul E_4 tries to reduce its energy then what do you expect to happen to it? First and foremost thing to obstruct this reduction would be its own absorbed energy. For some time, the absorbed energy will keep it running as usual. And the Soul has to avoid absorbing any energy during that time. When the energy of the Soul reduces further, its oscillation will reduce.

Vedic philosophy referred to this concept as Maya. So Maya is nothing but the energy debt created by a person that forces him/her to take any other way, rather than reduction of debt. And that is why Vedic Sages advised people to live a simple life than a luxurious one. We'll have more on this later.

(57) Eternal Origin of God Trinity: So now we can understand why Vedic philosophy calls the God-centres as of Eternal origin. This can be understood in this manner, that just like the Chakras, the God-centres also have metaphysical nature and are taken along with the Soul from one incarnation to another, and thus they are Eternal.

(58) Salvation: In Hinduism and almost every religion, the concept of Salvation or Mukti is discussed without any solid proof for luring innocent people into the energy trap.

Just few decades before, in India, this was a general belief that if a person dies at an age above nineties then he/she has attained salvation. But as we've seen in our study, no one is permitted to leave the birth cycle without paying his/her dues, even if the person dies in his/her hundreds.

If you don't believe me just check when was the last time anyone reported reaching Heaven just by reciting any Religious book.

(59) Answer to Ashram Education: In previous chapter, we had learned that small children used to study in Ashrams under the guidance of a Guru.

But if we observe this particular condition under the lens of Energy we see that on one hand, they were giving them valuable lessons on Vedic philosophy. And on the other hand they were actually helping them reduce their past life debt which is a necessary condition to awake Kundalini.

Until now, we've seen that the Vedic philosophy advises us to restrain from anything that increases our energy debt and proposes us to allow only that much energy that is essential for living normally.

For this purpose only, they devised fasting & vegetarian food as the best way. And not to permit that energy, including of feelings, to stay inside the body but to depart it in any way. And for this, they devised religious donating as the best way.

Other ways were also considered, be it physical or mental or social activities or even sexual because if this energy stays inside your universe, it will corrode the proper functioning of various chakras and signals the mind to invite external circumstances to balance it. And it will keep doing this until the debt is balanced even if one is born multiple times.

Life is a journey from birth to death. And until you clear all your dues, your debts will continue to haunt you in different forms. Try to maintain a low energy debt that can be repaid easily. Now just this first law only has disclosed all major causes of our problems and it really seems impossible to sum it up in a few lines.

Now all I want you to do is to check which part of your life is high in debt and do something about it! Just reduce the energy debt that is entering your Universe. And don't let it stay within your body and just let it flow out to keep the chakras in balance because once it stops at any point, problems will start pouring in.

And here it verifies the system of physical activities in Gymnasium where one performs hard exercises that eventually leads to tremendous sweating and resulting feeling of lightness in physical body. This same feeling is seen after sex too. Think about it!

Energy enters your body through five physical and five psychological senses and the type of food.

Now three situations arise from this first law,

 If $I/P < O/P$

Then debt reduces and empowers your chakras. This procedure was more prevalent in Vedic era and today it is adopted by Sages & Monks. This particular scenario leads to Kundalini awakening that marks the clearing of all past life debts and during which the individual undergoes revision of personal ethics of life. But due to the absorbed energy debt, another repulsive force known as Maya, gets activated that forces the individual to avoid reducing but stay with the debt. We'll have more discussion on this in coming chapters.

 If $I/P = O/P$

This situation is prevalent in rural areas where they strive to keep their food intake to a minimum level but their overall condition remains unchanged.

 If $I/P > O/P$

This situation is mostly persistent in the urban areas and each & every problem is originating due to this sole factor.

Now it's time to check your Ethereal/Spiritual account. Have a break and check it! In the meantime, another question arises. Why Energy is moving like this? There should be a source from where it is coming or at least some purpose to move like this!

Beyond this stage, we'll see another characteristics' trait of energy in our living world!

Chapter 6

IInd Law & Its Applicability

So why is Energy manipulating our chakras? What is the actual meaning of debt? Does it mean that we should restrain from drinking water even in hot summer. The answer is No.

It is not that you should reduce the consumption of water to reduce the debt but in actual meaning it is the change in energetic debt of water and the energy required to revert it to its original state that will be deducted from your spiritual account.

Oh! You seem confused! So let me present you, our next evidence.

Source: Wikimedia

Oh no! It's not Water cycle! It is the River. We were observing the flow of energy in nature. So see any river that is flowing and what could you notice? Just water! Ah! Let me take you through another Spiritual tour in human history.

In every religion, Time has been treated like a river. So this River hides our next law because we're witnessing the flow of energy here. But why they were taking Time as a river?

Philosophical view says that just like river, Time is also unidirectional. And moreover, life also flows through ups & downs just like the waves in river. Did they miss something? May be!

So here, we'll have to derive philosophical views from visual descriptions! So let us move to the mouth of the river, any river! What could you see? Rocks & clear water. Ok! Now let us move to the other end of the river. What can you see? Soil, Muddy water, Deltas! Could you derive anything? No!

So what was the difference between both the scenes? Ah! For the time being, we will just dump the nature of water! So we see that Rocks have turned into Fine Soil. So what is the philosophical derivation?

If we view this particular instance under the scope of Energy, we see that a Rock is a large chunk of energy while the Fine soil is an evenly distributed form of energy. Everything is reverting to its original stable state!

So, as said earlier, Time is nothing but a medium for distribution of energy debt. If you've debt, you're bound to be affected by time. And if you don't have any debt, Time will not touch you! And hence the problem caused by Time also reduces proportionately according to the amount of debt.

Do you remember the Ageless Yogi from the Autobiography of Dr. Rajendra Prasad? So now you can well imagine what that Sage may have been doing for staying ageless! According to available information, he used to have only fruits in his meal, once a day.

Back to the Beginning or B2B.

And our first law was, $I/P=O/P$.

So what about the question we had in this chapter's beginning about drinking water? So that means, Time is just a balancing medium for energy only. And when you purify water, you've changed its energetic debt which Nature dislikes. The water goes inside your body and registers itself at the Sacral chakra.

And what comes out? It's completely a waste which was not created by Nature and Nature will have to expend its energy to revert it back to its original state. And that energy will be deducted from your Spiritual account.

Now review everything that you have. Whatever produced by human civilization is reverted back to its original stable state and the energy is deducted from the creator's account. So now we know why Vedic sages asked us to live a simple life.

Because when we keep just a plate, we need some water to keep it clean. So just by keeping a plate, we've increased our requirement of water. This necessity of satisfying one requirement after another was referred to as Attachments by Vedic Sages. Now what about the number of items that we already have? Check for yourself!

In previous chapter end, I advised women to reduce their water debt for which some ladies might not have agreed. But at this point of chapter, even those ladies can understand why I said that? Whatever be the products you use, be it cosmetic or fashionable clothes, you need water to clean them and that increases your water debt.

The amount of impurity that is added by you to water and the energy required to revert it back to its original natural form is deducted from your account. And this applies not only to Women but Men too, because now-a-days they too are facing sexual & psychological problems on an unprecedented scale.

Now answer me this simple question? Do you still think that the Energy moving through our Dimension doesn't have any Mind & cannot record anything? I think you now agree with that Vedic concept. It is alive! But just in the end of previous chapter we had a question that why energy is moving in cycles? It should have a purpose! So what should be the purpose?

Have you read anything about Faraday's discs? What happens when the central copper disc rotates at high speeds? Electrons due to momentum are pushed outside, towards the periphery.

By doing so, it tries to retain its stable state and by moving in cycles, the energy dumps its own intensity to retain its original state. Why? Simply because it is alive!

Oh! I know you've many questions there, in your head! But let them remain there, as they are! For the time being, let us say that Energy is alive; it has a mind and moves in cycles.

And if you have any knowledge of Geography, you must have seen that the wind & ocean water also rotates in cycles on a global level.

So this energy, moving in cycles, records everything and transfers that data to somewhere that is higher in dimension! This is how information is transferred to every part of Ethereal Universe!

And that is why Spiritual philosophy says that every part of Universe is inter-connected (by the information aka intelligent energy)! It is giving you energy to live and takes note of the changes in your universe in return. And rest of the job is done by the Time.

For the time being, have you ever taken note of what are the various high energy wastes created by us? Chemical fumes, Polluted Waste water, Air Pollution, Nuclear wastes & Plastics. And who is going to pay for such wastes created by us? You know the answer!

I've reduced my waste to a large extent and resist even taking Plastic bags at Grocery shops! And for this, I even avoid packaged mineral water! So, what happens when you leave it there in the open land under the Sun? It will take years to decompose back to its stable state from which it was made!

In India & other developing countries, people don't care about the Plastic waste and just throw it as unwanted waste. And most of the time, it is eaten by some stray animal which causes it pain and that energy is absorbed by the waste itself.

And when the energy will retrace itself towards the Source, it is going to blame that person as being responsible for that pain also and his/her spiritual account will be debited.

Oh! Yes! We Indian people are also fond of fire crackers almost at every festival. And when the Time comes for the debt, we run to blame someone else for it! At least, not me! It has been almost 15 years when I celebrated Deepawali with fire crackers. This has reduced my Air debt and thus increased my breathing count.

In previous chapter, I discussed about the fate of Ayurveda as being similar to Allopathic medicine. Losing its healing power! Why? Because the secret of all Alternative medicines lies in its low energy debt and not just in the type of herbs or methods only.

These herbs were personally collected and prepared for each patient separately. And this procedure reduced the debt to a large extent because the Ayurveda practitioner was paid for preparing it manually. And what remained was the debt of nature that was reduced by fasting & other similar processes.

But today, these fake Ayurveda gurus have become so fond of making money that they have simply industrialized the treatment, without caring for the energy debt that the medicine would hold. These medicines are also packed in the form of capsules with artificial coverings. So you can well imagine why I assumed that?

So, Energy has a mind & it can trace its path back to its source usually via same route thus completing the natural cycle & takes note of Time, it had stayed at a place.

Chapter 7

Real Life Event Analysis

Indian scenario:

So we've completed our derivation of two most important laws and now it's Time to see their effectiveness in real life. And here, we'll take various incidents from History and evaluate their reasons as to why they occurred? In this chapter, I would begin from India & its neighbouring countries as an example & investigation of International scenario will be taken later.

(1)Indian Society in Post Vedic Era: You may have read that the Indian society, in post-Vedic era, was divided into four classes. They were

- Brahmins - Priests
- Kshatriya - Warriors
- Vaishya - Merchants
- Shudras/Untouchables - Slaves

Now this lower most class was the most oppressed ones in Indian History. They were paying for their debts from past life. So in terms of EEM, Energy Debt was increasing in those top two classes for last few thousand years &, as we discussed before, Energy was recording everything.

If you've read that book I recommended, named "Riddles in Hinduism by Dr. B. R. Ambedkar", you can fairly assume what was the level of exploitation & torture at that time?

But according to our IInd law i.e. B2B, Time should take everything to the beginning when everything was in stable state. And this happened with the arrival of Mughals, whose arrival blurred the superiority of top two classes.

Lower two classes were not even touched. And the direction of their arrival was also significant, from North-West region. This region belongs to Rajasthan state, which was most affected by this division of castes, at least at that time.

As per available data, India was suffering from many dark rituals that were spread by those corrupt Priests namely Sati, Dowry, Child marriages, Untouchability and many others.

And we see that these rituals were more prevalent among the local population and were needed to be eradicated! And that happened with the arrival of British rulers. Here also please take note of their point of entry, South-Western India.

This region was also extremely dominated by those Priests. The invaders easily took control of everything and made these rituals a state crime nearly after a century. One-by-one all such practices were abolished. I read somewhere that these untouchables were involved in the suppression of 1857 mutiny in India.

(2)Three Wars with Pakistan: Ah! Yes! India fought three wars with Pakistan at the same border repeatedly. Why? In the state of Rajasthan, as I said before, there is a city named "Jodhpur" which forms the most populous city nearest to the border.

And it is also the city with the highest trend of caste-ism. So it was attacked by Pakistan three times, then what saved it? You would be amazed to know that the Hindu ruler, who established Jodhpur, made the social practices of donating & fasting, a popular tradition among the people which is followed still today.

He made it so because the city was short of drinking water and people used to have mercy with each thirsty traveller entering the city, even stray animals. This became a tradition and people made it a daily habit to feed stray birds & animals in early morning.

But when viewed under the scope of energy, as per the second law, the social situation should reach its beginning when everyone was equal. So this condition attracted Pakistan to attack India. But according to the first law, the area was having a low debt so Pakistan could never conquer it. Awesome disclosure naa?

As the Time passed, this Caste-ism practice reduced & remained confined among the older generations of Jodhpur so Pakistan's point of attention shifted to Kashmir where Muslim inhabitants were having a rage with Hindu population.

And this problem still persists and will remain as it is, till the local people forget & dump their selfish differences.

(3)Mumbai 26/11 Attacks: Though none of you may believe this but just before Mumbai attacks, there was a roar among the local population to drive away the North Indian from Mumbai.

There were numerous cases where local group leaders used to attack North Indians and this led to fear among them. And then the terrorist attack on Mumbai happened. And what's more? This roar immediately disappeared. Why & How? You think it!

(4)Problems of Indian Military in Kashmir: So today local people of Kashmir are in a sandwiched situation. On one hand, the fear of terrorism is taking a toll on the tourism sector thus reducing their chances of employment and on the other hand, the terrorists and their political supporters are elevating these extreme conditions. And who is responsible? You can fairly assume now! Similarly, the Indian troops are facing an increase in terrorist's precision attacks. Why?

We'll have to think it from all sides to go into detail. From the local people's point of view, we see that the region remains covered with snow for most part of the year and to counter this terrible cold, people resort to non-vegetarian food & use coal fire to keep themselves warm.

So you can see that they will have to pay for everything they use. To balance this debt, Time made Hindu population to migrate to North-India but Muslim population was forced to face a reduction in employment opportunities.

Similarly, from Indian Military point of view, we see that currently Pakistan trained Snipers have increased its problems. Why?

You would be surprised to know that, in recent years, to counter the harsh living conditions in Kashmir & North-East areas, Indian Military had improved the nutrition by using packaged food in small plastic packets that can be dipped into hot water then consumed readily.

But when viewed under the scope of EEM, as per the First law, even a soldier will have to pay for what he/she uses and leaves as wastage. The soldiers were leaving plastic bags as wastage which increased their debt and thus their problems increased manifolds.

This problem started terribly elevating due to the Medical services, wherein a decade ago, the medicine supply to Armed Forces were supplied in huge glass bottles so the debt for creating plastic waste was low.

But as the medical sector got industrialized, huge amount of plastic waste is being created without any means for recycling.

Oh! Yes! We are having the technology available to convert Plastic directly into fuel but that is never discussed in any corner of the world. Who cares? Ha! Ha! Just search "Converting Plastic into Fuel" and then read on.

(5) Case of New Delhi, Uttar Pradesh & Bihar: These three states in India are always in the headlines for two reasons. First is Politicians. And second is Crime rate. Local police in these states is helpless because these people have high contacts.

And by the way, just like Jodhpur, today these states are suffering from mutual differences like Caste & Status. While New Delhi is more divided by the richness & social status, other two states are more divided by the Caste-ism. The Yadavs caste is more dominant than others.

Due to rapid urbanization, population is increasing in these states and further raising its energy debt. Now as this debt is increasing in one region of India, what should happen in the Ethereal Energetic Universe? Very simple! It is attracting China to ascend towards India. Proof?

Ok! There are two small countries just between India & China namely Nepal & Bhutan. So why is there no panic seen in these two countries? Why China always tries to stay friendly with them? Why China does not repeat its military ascension history of Tibet with them?

Because they have a low energy debt and always try to keep it low by growing vegetables locally in gardens and climbing mountainous terrains without using any ferry animals. Rest of the situation can be fairly calculated.

(6) Farmers Suicide cases: Now this is a clear case of Natural justice. How rude & ugly, Nature can go just to deduct the debt! Farmers have huge lands where they sow their dreams of better harvest.

But once it starts, their hopes always keep on increasing, and they never care to return the debt. And add to this, the debt of fertilizers, all machines running on fossil fuels, etc. And this is how the story might end!

(7) Recent cases of Mob Lynching in India: Surprisingly, most victims of such cases of Mob lynching belong to Muslim community. But when you view these incidents under the scope of energy, it appears that they were themselves responsible for that incident. In any case, one will have to pay for what he/she uses! And the Muslim community, throughout the world, is fond of non-veg food and this is why their living condition is deteriorating rapidly.

There were also some cases of Mob lynching where people were caught and beaten ruthlessly when they were misidentified to be child thefts. And who stands responsible for that? You can easily decide!

International scenario:

(8) 9/11 Incident: You decide the reasons!

(9) Rise of ISIS: So you think that Baghdadi was responsible for the rise of ISIS! I think that you missed something! There were two incidents that occurred in succession.

First was the rise of ISIS. And the second was the migration of people. Where? To Europe! Why? Haven't you seen how the borders got simply dissolved when the people started migrating! And this second incident was the result of second law! Back to the Beginning!

When this small continent was free of borders and people were free to move from one end to other without caring for any documents. Nature may repeat the same procedure with other parts of the world! Why? Just to erase these irritating borders! Mr. Trump, are you listening?

(10) Muslim Community: So we've already discussed about the problems faced by the Muslim community. But there is one thing to discuss here. It appears that Time maintains a separate area for souls with high energy debt to incarnate. Take any corner on Earth, you will find that most of the people that live there are living in adverse conditions. Why? Just because their past life debts remains unpaid. As the number of such people keeps increasing, surrounding circumstances also keep changing in proportion. From Venezuela, Mexico, Yaman, Syria, Sudan, Congo to Indonesia, Myanmar, Philippines. Everywhere we see is that people are struggling for a decent life.

If anyone, belonging to these areas, is reading this book, please reduce your debt. Even other people can also help them by donating ripened fruits and asking them to bury the seed in ground after eating the fruit. This way, after few years, the Tree that will grow there will start giving fruits, thus reducing the hunger problem.

(11) There is one more thing to discuss. Almost all areas, which are on international scenario for any reason, are fond of non-veg food. See the generalised list below-

East Asia & Japan- Whale meat

South-east Asia- Dog meat (perhaps I'm wrong here)

India- Mutton & Chicken (may be more)

Bangladesh- All types

America- All types

Russia- All types

By the way, in India also, the states of Delhi, UP, Bihar & Bengal are famous for their love of non-veg food. And thus the complexity of life there is further increasing due to this debt.

Presently, the situation in Europe, is also worsening at a rapid rate and reasons can be fairly derived.

Conclusions: Observe your life from the beginning till now to calculate how much debt you might have created? There are few more lessons to learn that will remove the illusion created by these Religious Priests! And I would even try my hand at mythological stories of Holy Bible & Holy Quran.

For people sending me emails, I must say that this email-id will be checked and questions will be answered perhaps in a separate book, after the last part of this series is published.

Don't waste your time because we'll have lots of that after escaping this cycle of birth & death. And the Core of Ethereal Universe knows what is going on in your mind, and we'll have more about its location in our last part that may take some time to appear. Please stay tuned!

It's Time to wake up. Refine Yourself! Because our civilization is heading for another Yuga transition period, where our dimension will shrug off everything that is high in energy debt, even if it is you!
